HICKMAN SANE, JURY VERDICT ON FIRST BALLOT; TO BE SENTENCED SATURDAY FOR GIRL'S MURDER

Smith Resigns and Is Appointed to Senate Seat

SENATE WILL BAR APPOINTEE AGAIN, NORRIS PREDICTS

Governor of Illinois
Names Smith To Succeed
Himself and Then
Calls Special Election.

REJECTED SENATOR TO ASK REELECTION

Plans To Give People of Illinois Opportunity To Pass on Veto Power of U. S. Senate.

Springfield, Ill., February 9.—(AP)—Senator-Elect Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, whose seat was declared vacant by the United States senate, today handed his resignation to Governor Len Small, the governor immediately appointed him to fill the unexpired term and issuing a proclamation for a special senatorial primary and election.

The governor's proclamation said the special senatorial primary would be held on April 30, the date for the regular April primary, and that the special senatorial election would be held in November in connection with the regular election. Smith issued a 1,400-word statement in connection with his resignation, declaring he would enter the special primary to test the will of the people of Illinois against the action of the United States senate, which debarred him.

Smith condemned the senate for not seating him and said he "does not intend that Illinois be robbed of its just representation." He said he had no intention of abandoning the "cause of the state" and would enter the special primary for re-nomination and re-election to give Illinois an opportunity to express its desires on "whether the senate has the veto power to reject senators."

"If the people of Illinois desire to admit that they must elect their senators subject to the veto power of the senate," Mr. Smith said, "they ought to have an opportunity to express their desires. My candidacy will give them that opportunity which they could get in no other way at this time."

As the issue raised by my exclusion from the senate is one between the senate and the people of Illinois, I refer it to the people for settlement, Smith's statement continued.

Assess Issue Is Grave.

"I am confident that they are aware of the gravity of the issue and that they still adhere to the ideal of liberty which inspired the fathers of the nation when they founded our government and that they will not surrender their time-honored rights as citizens of a sovereign state to an oligarchy made up of a shifting majority of the senate."

"It is because I believe a great principle is involved that I have resigned and am seeking reelection. Either a majority to the senate has a terrible power, which it has never before exercised, or it hasn't that power."

"The people of Illinois thought they were within their rights when they elected me. The senate majority says they were not. It is now up to the voters of Illinois to stand steadfast."

G. O. P. Convention May Ask Coolidge To Run, Says Fess

Senator Declares, However, That President Really Wants To Quit White House.

'HUGGING DELUSION' CHARGED TO FESS

Senator Bruce Says President Would Be Acting in Bad Faith If He Accepted Nomination.

Washington, February 9.—(AP)—Belief that the next republican convention might turn to President Coolidge again was expressed by Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, in the senate today during a lengthy speech against the La Follette anti-third-term resolution.

Under fire from all corners of the democratic side of the chamber, the Ohio senator declared, however, that Coolidge "means what he says and wants to get out of office." Finally he related the details of his famous white house visit after he told newspapermen that he had been called down for advocating another term for the president.

The possibility of another term for Coolidge was the subject of today's debate which forced over again a vote on the resolution of Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, declaring against more than two terms for a president, commending President Coolidge for observance of this precedent.

Answering the rapid-fire questions from the democrats, Senator Fess insisted Coolidge would face no dishonor in accepting the nomination in the face of his statement last summer that he did not choose to run again and his amplification in December of that decision.

Senator Bruce, democrat, Maryland, took the opposite view and declared the president would be acting "in very bad faith" if he accepted the nomination after "enticing" other candidates into the field.

Robinson Presses Question.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, pressed Senator Fess to establish whether his views in this regard were those of Mr. Coolidge and the Ohioan declined to speak for the president.

Fighting back Senator Fess declared the democrats were fearful that Coolidge would be elected.

BOY WHIPPED BY TEACHER WINS $1,500 DAMAGES

Kansas City, February 9.—(AP)—A verdict of $1,500 damages was returned today by a jury which heard 10-year-old Edwin Christman's complaint against his former teacher, Miss Mary Hickman, for whipping him when he failed to solve an arithmetic problem.

Edwin was whipped on May 19, 1926, when he was a boy of 9, in the third grade. His parents brought suit for $15,000.

30 Bandits Are Executed By Mexicans

Rebels Captured After Clash With Federal Troops Near Salamanca.

Mexico City, February 9.—(AP)—The capture and execution of 30 rebels near Salamanca are reported in press dispatches. The capture was made by federal troops in pursuit of the band of 200 which had attacked Salamanca early Sunday morning.

The rebels were driven off with a loss of 22 killed and the strengthened federal forces took up the pursuit of the scattered bands through the mountains. Daniel Perez, a Catholic priest, charged with provoking the uprising, was captured after the attack, was shot and killed while attempting to rejoin the rebels.

The attack on Salamanca was believed to be in reprisal for the recent dynamiting of the statue of Christ at El Subilete. The rebels took the field with shouts of "Long live Christ, the King."

The work of cleaning up the scattered remnants of the rebel forces has been taken under the direction of Secretary of War Amaro, who had been directing the vigorous federal campaign against the rebels in the state of Jalisco.

Dispatches today from Guadalajara in that district told of several clashes with resultant casualties to both federal and rebel forces. These brushes had the effect of further dispersing the rebels and driving them deeper into the mountain strongholds.

RESOLUTION ATTACKS MEXICAN POLICY.

Budapest, Hungary, February 9.—(AP)—Official circles in Hungary attach no importance to a resolution adopted today by the Christian Social Economic conference, urging the government to break relations with Mexico because of alleged persecution of the Catholics of that country.

Attention was drawn to the fact that Hungary has no direct representative in Mexico except in an honorary consul; therefore the question of a rupture of relations is purely theoretical.

OPERA GUARANTEE CARDS POURING IN

Promptness of Guarantors Indicates Most Successful Season in Years, Association Reports.

If the readiness and promptness with which grand opera guarantors are signing guarantee cards for the 1928 season is of any significance the series of grand opera productions to be offered here in April by the Metropolitan Opera company will be received with more enthusiasm than has been displayed in many years, according to an announcement made Thursday by the Atlanta Music Festival association.

Cards to the guarantors were mailed Monday and they have been pouring back into the office of the association on every mail. All indications are that the list will be signed in full in a few days. New guarantors are welcomed and persons who desire to become identified with the association in the capacity of guarantor are asked to communicate with the association at 84 Broad street.

Nine grand operas will be offered this season. The operas were selected largely because of their general appeal and because of the many melodies each contains. The first opera to be presented will be Meyerbeer's "L'Africaine." Eight other popular operas will be given during the week.

Charles Howard Candler, vice president and treasurer of the association, New York, to close final details for the great season which will be given from April 23 to 28 at the auditorium.

America Cooperates With British Firm To Establish Regular Dirigible Trips Across Atlantic.

Washington, February 9.—(AP)—Regular trans-Atlantic mail and passenger service by dirigible airships will be instituted within three months with the cooperation and approval of the American government, Secretary Hoover said today in announcing the conclusion of conferences with representatives of British interests who are responsible for the enterprise.

The dirigible R-100, now under construction in England, designed to carry 100 passengers and 10 tons of mail, is to inaugurate the new air service, on a tentative schedule that will consume 48 hours on her westward voyage and 38 hours on the eastward return. The American government will loan the use of the army dirigible plant and the equipment at Lakehurst.

Seek Mail Contract.

Negotiations are now under way with the postal authorities by which the air liner will be given a special mail contract at a premium rate of postage, as the land airplane mail services now receive.

The aeronautic section of the commerce department will apply to the vessel only the treatment given foreign ships in American harbors, which means the acceptance of English regulations and supervision with reference to the vessel's safety and design.

In case the trial ships with the British liner, the British and American will be invited to associate themselves with the British enterprise in the construction of several additional dirigibles for service.

Dennis Burney, a member of the English parliament, has dealt with Mr. Hoover and other American officials in the negotiations for the installation of the new air service.

YOUTH TO SERVE TERM IN PRISON AND THEN REFORM

After he pays his debt to Uncle Sam for stealing an automobile and causing a fatal accident, a young man, Raymond Agnew, 21, is going straight, he told Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley Thursday in United States district court when Judge Sibley sentenced him to a year and a day in prison for violating the national motor vehicle law.

Agnew was charged with transporting a stolen automobile from City, Ala., to Cartersville, Ga., in 1925. He was arrested in Virginia.

"I'm cured, judge," he told Judge Sibley.

VOTE CONSPIRACY AGAIN CHARGED AT INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., February 9.—(AP)—The charge that the Rev. Slack was elected mayor of Indianapolis by a conspiracy was made today by Ira N. Holmes, claimant to the office, who filed a second paragraph to his quo warranto suit against Slack and Joseph L. Hogue, former city controller, demanding custody of the office. Holmes also claims the office of mayor.

Holmes' suit against Slack and Hogue, now corporation counsel, Claude M. Worley, chief of police, and members of the city council were the principals in the conspiracy. The city council, a majority of which is republican, recently repudiated its action in choosing Slack, a democrat, and last night ordered the city clerk to have Holmes sign documents requiring the mayor's signature. Slack, however, still holds the office.

SAVANNAH BOY, 5, SHOTS AND KILLS 20-YEAR-OLD UNCLE

Savannah, Ga., February 9.—(AP)—Irvin W. Williams, 5-year-old boy, shot and killed his uncle, Paul Hope, 20 years of age, this afternoon at the home of Gordon Eggen, on the Dunn Forest road, a few miles out of Savannah. The fatality occurred over a piece of string which the uncle had taken from the child, and while in a friendly tussle with Mrs. Gertrude Hope, an aunt of the boy, the boy put a 12-gauge shotgun over his knee, cocked the hammer, pulled the trigger and a load of number 7 shot entered Hope's breast near the heart.

Havana, Cuba, February 9.—(United News).—The subcommittee drawing up a draft of the Pan-American union convention has failed in its task.

Five hours discussion followed and then the subcommittee adjourned without agreement. On Friday it will report, formally, its inability to agree.

Ship Pounded Into Wreckage During Storm

Crew Escapes After Steam Trawler Runs Ashore in Blinding Snow, Gale.

Provincetown, Mass., February 9.—(United News).—In a blinding snowstorm, the steam trawler Mao III, of Boston, went ashore on Peaked Hill bars tonight and was pounded to pieces by the heavy seas. The crew of seven escaped in their own dory.

The wreck occurred half a mile south of the Peaked Hill life saving station, where many a vessel has met disaster. Last winter, in just such a storm as tonight's, a coast guard patrol boat lost its bearings and was wrecked on the Peaked Hill bars with a loss of all on board.

The Mao III was bound for Boston from the fishing grounds with a load of fish. Her skipper was Captain Bradford Amant, of Somerville.

SANDINO TRAILED BY U. S. MARINES

Two Sources Confirm Report That Rebel General Invaded State of Matagalpa.

Managua, Nicaragua, February 9.—(AP)—Confirmation of the presence of Augusto Sandino with his band of rebels in the state of Matagalpa came from two sources today.

Carlton Beals, representing The Nation, a weekly magazine published in New York, arrived here today with the statement that he had spent five hours with Sandino last Saturday in a camp at San Rafael del Norte, a short distance southwest of Matagalpa.

Harold Patterson, British charge d'affaires, announced today that he had been informed by telephone that Sandino had been seen in that general vicinity as late as yesterday morning.

Led Well-Armed Band.

Beals said that Sandino had about 100 well-armed and mounted followers and that the rebel leader claimed to have thirty machine guns.

Sandino, he said, furnished him with a guard of thirty men on the last half of his journey to San Rafael. Beals, coming from Honduras, had crossed the state of Nueva Segovia, which had been Sandino's stronghold until United States marines captured his headquarters recently. The journey was made on horseback under the guidance of Indian sympathizers with Sandino.

Patterson announced that his information concerning the rebel leader's movements came from Charles Potter, brother of the British vice consul at Matagalpa. Potter told him Sandino, with 100 disciplined soldiers, had spent Tuesday night on his plantation called "La Fundadora."

Wrote Defiant Note.

During Sandino's stay there he wrote a defiant note to the chief Nicaraguan authority of the district, saying that he would be delighted to meet the marines in the hills around Matagalpa and complaining of "the cowardly actions of the marines" in Nueva Segovia.

His criticism of the marines was thought to be objection to their extensive bombing operations from airplanes which had made several of his previously taken positions untenable and which had cost him severe losses.

Patterson said that no deprivation had been reported from the plantation which is in the rich coffee-growing district. Although official circles believe there is no fear that Sandino will attack the town of Matagalpa, many residents have sought safety here. Marine reinforcements have been sent to Matagalpa.

Washington, February 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Coolidge was stricken with a slight cold tonight and was unable to attend the dinner of President Coolidge for Speaker and Mrs. Longworth.

Her illness was described at the white house as not serious, but the cold was thought by her physician to be such that she had better remain in her room.

Sheppard Is Found Guilty of Murder Of Homer Fowler

Verdict Carries Automatic Electric Chair Penalty for Former Member of Texas Rangers.

VICTIM AGGRESSOR, DEFENDANT CLAIMS

Sheppard Asserts He Killed in Defense of His Life; Jury Out Forty Minutes.

A verdict of guilty without recommendation, carrying an automatic electric chair penalty, was returned Thursday night against R. H. Sheppard, former Texas ranger, by a Fulton superior court jury, before which he was tried for the murder of Homer Fowler with an ax on February 19, 1927. Judge E. R. Thomas will pass formal sentence this morning.

Sheppard was sentenced to the electric chair last March, but a second hearing was granted by the Georgia supreme court on the ground that his attorneys, appointed by the judge shortly prior to the trial, had not had sufficient time to prepare the defense.

Jury Out 40 Minutes.

State and defense rested at 6 o'clock Thursday night following an all-day hearing. The jury received the case at 8 o'clock and reached a verdict after deliberating 40 minutes.

Vena Black, a star witness for the state, could not be located by the solicitor's office, but a brief of her previous testimony, read to the jury by Assistant Solicitor Ed Stephens, said she saw Sheppard strike Fowler with an ax after he had knocked him to the floor with his fist.

In his statement to the jury, Sheppard said he struck Fowler with his fist in the Marietta street rooming house where the killing occurred, but vehemently denied ever having used the ax introduced by the state.

Story of Defendant.

Sheppard told the jury Thursday night he was carrying four in his teeth in his pocket. "Fowler knocked them out with his fist," the prisoner declared, "just look and see," he insisted.

VERDICT REACHED IN RECORD TIME

Jurors Need But 42 Minutes for Deliberations; Attorney Walsh To Ask New Trial.

JUDGE INTIMATES DEATH SENTENCE

Los Angeles, February 9.—(United News).—Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco, who will pass sentence Saturday on William E. Hickman, tonight said:

"I cannot state in advance just what my sentence will be but you can rest assured that this defendant will be given all the law allows."

Judge Trabucco attempted to obtain a stipulation from counsel for both sides that in arriving at his decision on the degree of punishment to be ordered he could use the transcript of the sanity trial without taking additional testimony as to the degree of guilt. The prosecution attorneys agreed to this and Walsh said it was probable that he would agree to the stipulation in order to expedite the case.

Los Angeles, February 9.—(United News).—William Edward Hickman was sane when he kidnapped and murdered 12-year-old Marion Parker, a jury decided in superior court here today.

Hickman will appear before Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco Saturday morning and be sentenced for the crime. The young slayer may be sent either to death on the gallows at San Quentin penitentiary, or to life imprisonment. The quickness with which the jury reached a decision constituted a record for a major murder case in Los Angeles county. Exactly 42 minutes after they filed out with the brief instructions of the court, the four women and eight men returned to announce they had reached a decision.

One Ballot Required.

Only one ballot had been required. The written verdict was handed to Judge Trabucco. The jurist scanned it briefly. Then he handed it to the clerk of the court to read.

"We, the jury, find William Edward Hickman was sane when he committed the first count of the indictment, to-wit, kidnapping," the clerk read.

Then the clerk read the second verdict.

PROGRESS SLOW IN JACKSON TRIAL

Indianapolis, Ind., February 9.—(AP) Prosecution and defense took turns today at emptying chairs in the jury box as they sought to agree on 12 men to try El Jackson, Indiana's governor, on a charge of conspiracy to commit a felony in an attempt to bribe. The result was that when the day ended conditions were about as they were at the outset.

Eleven men had been passed twice by the defense, while the state had accepted tentatively only four. Not one appeared certain of holding his place, however, as each side had left six of its ten peremptory challenges. Special Judge Charles M. McCabe ruled that peremptory challenges might be exercised up to the acceptance of the jury twice in its entirety by each side.

A ripple of interest was evoked when defense counsel directed their attention to learning the feelings of prospective jurors toward the Ku Klux Klan. Those interrogated asserted the fact that Robert L. Marsh, indicted with Jackson, was mentioned in the true bill as a former attorney for the Klan would have no bearing on the verdict. They also said the fact that the name of D. C. Stephenson, former Klan dragon, who is serving a life sentence for murder, had been associated with that of the governor would not influence them.

Church and political affiliations again were stressed by the defense. Jackson's attorney also indicated that it would attempt to prove that Jackson did not place former Governor Warren T. McCray in a state of fear to prevent him from exposing the alleged attempted bribe. Jackson and the two codefendants are charged with attempting to bribe McCray to name the choice as Marion county (Indiana) prosecutor in 1923.

Fair weather will be Atlanta's enjoyable lot again today, C. F. von Herrmann, United States meteorologist, forecast Thursday. A drop to 35 degrees is expected this morning of the thermometer, while the mercury will rise to between 55 and 55 this afternoon. Mr. Von Herrmann said.

There is still no real cold weather or rain in sight for Atlanta on the weather map, forecast calling for only moderately cold weather today, Mr. Von Herrmann said.

JURY FINDS HICKMAN SANE IN RECORD TIME

dict: "We, the jury, find William Edward Hickman was sane when he committed the second crime charged in the indictment, murder."

There was no sound in the crowded courtroom other than the droning voice of the clerk.

Shayer Pales Slightly.

"The Fox" paled slightly. But he maintained the stolid pose he has affected from the first. Alfred Hickman, brother of the defendant, bit his finger nails nervously as the clerk read on. He was conspicuously seated near the judge's bench.

When the verdicts were read there was no sound for several minutes. Then, in a strained voice, defense Attorney Jerome Walsh said: "We desire to have the jury polled, as a group and individually."

The judge granted the request.

"Is this your opinion?" the clerk

asked each juror after reading the verdicts.

In a firm voice each spokesman answered "it is" or "yes, sir." The crowded courtroom still was tense and silent.

Judge to Fix Penalty.

Judge Trabucco then set Saturday morning, February 11, for date of sentence, and Attorney Walsh said he would enter a formal motion for a retrial at that time.

Hickman was rushed out of court and to his cell. Deputy Sheriff Claude Peters, who escorted Hickman to and from all sessions, said "The Fox" was scared to death.

But in an interview in his cell later Hickman said that "I got just what I deserved."

"I don't blame the jury or anyone else," he asserted. "I don't even blame the prosecutor. I think District Attorney Asa Keyes is an 'all-right fellow'."

"One thing I'm glad about is that I don't have to pose as 'The Fox' any more. Now I can be a man."

The four women and eight men of the panel, stern-faced and in the strain of 15 days of court sessions, retired at 2:20 p. m. with the instructions of Judge Trabucco.

Courtroom observers predicted an early verdict and Spring street Los Angeles gambler Mecca, was offering odds of 5 to 3 that Hickman would be adjudged sane.

Judge Trabucco spent only 20 minutes in reading his charge to the jury. He briefly reviewed the counts against the defendant, the plea entered, the issue to be decided and the California statutes as they bore on the case.

Judge Explains Charges.

"The defendant," he said, "is charged with kidnapping and murder under indictments returned by the grand jury. To each count he has entered the plea of not guilty by reason of insanity."

"The sole issue of the case is the mental condition of the defendant at the time he kidnapped and murdered Marion Parker."

"You will return a verdict which will state the defendant either sane or insane, remembering the burden of proof is on the defendant and that he must show his case by a preponderance of the evidence."

"The standard of accountability under the California statute hinges on whether the defendant knew the difference between right and wrong at the time he committed the offenses charged, whether he knew he was violating the rights of another."

"To each count charged against the defendant you must return a separate verdict. The verdicts must be unanimous."

Warns Against Prejudice.

"Under no consideration must you endeavor the rights of this defendant or the state of California by permitting prejudice, bias, sympathy, pity or public opinion to influence you in the decision."

The courtroom was locked while the Mother of 'Fox' Collapses When Told Verdict of Jury

Los Angeles, February 9.—(United News.)—"Only God can know what this means to me," Mrs. Eva Hickman, mother of William Edward Hickman, said before she collapsed after learning of the verdict in her son's trial.

Completely unnerfed, the woman who traveled half a continent to her son and who allowed her name to be mixed in the attempt to save him, was half carried to a waiting automobile which rushed her to the home of a friend and to seclusion.

It was the other son, Alfred, the one who "went straight," that broke the news to her. Newspapers in the same room in the office of Richard Cantillon knew about it but didn't care to tell her.

Alfred, fresh from the courtroom and paler than usual, entered the office and sat on the arm of her chair.

"They are in, mother," he said with restrained emotion, "and they found him sane."

"But what does that mean?" she queried anxiously. "Will they hang him?"

"We won't know until they pass sentence Saturday," Alfred answered.

The mother broke completely and Alfred, with the aid of others, took her to the waiting car.

Mariposa jurist read his instructions.

Mar Carlos Hardy, wife of Superior Judge Hardy, disqualified the first day of the trial because of alleged prejudice, was sitting near Hickman.

Arguments, started yesterday afternoon, were closed just before the noon recess.

Keyes Makes Final Plea.

Reaching oratorical heights he never before had attempted, District Attorney Keyes made the final and dramatic plea to the jury to hang "this foul criminal, the perpetrator of the most brutal crime in all history."

The voice found itself to the corridors outside as he boomed "this defendant is not a madman, rather he is a monster without a soul. To find him sane will not brand the American boy as the defense claims, it merely brings to justice the worst criminal the world has known."

Hickman gave his first attention of the trial to District Attorney Keyes in the midst of this conclusion.

As he said "this foul criminal" he pointed to the defendant and Hickman to the prosecutor and eyed the prosecutor coldly.

Eyes Clash Momentarily.

Their eyes clashed momentarily and then Keyes returned to his plea to the jury.

The purported fits, special Providence and alleged dementia praecox advanced by the defendant as an excuse for not paying the penalty for his crime were flayed by the prosecutor.

His only tribute was to Defense attorneys Jerome Walsh and Richard Cantillon "they have," he said, "made an admirable fight for one who did not deserve it."

Cantillon summed the defense case before the jury to District Attorney Keyes.

Los Angeles attorney was calm and quiet spoken. He pointed to the Hickman family skeleton which, he said, disclosed one of his sane ancestors a neuropath, two positively insane and another the village half-wit.

MAY ESCAPE TRIAL FOR SLAYING DRUGGIST.

Los Angeles, February 9.—(United News.)—If Judge J. J. Trabucco sentences William Edward Hickman to hang for the murder of Marion Parker, the state will not try "The Fox" for the slaying of Ivy Thoms, District Attorney Asa Keyes said tonight.

"If Hickman is sent to the gallows when he appears for sentence Saturday he will not try him for the Thoms murder," he said. "If Hickman is given a life sentence we will require him to go to trial."

Hickman and Welby Hunt, his 16-year-old son, are jointly charged with the slaying of Thoms, killed during a drug store holdup the pair engineered Christmas eve, 1926. They are scheduled to go to trial February 15.

Discussing the conviction of Hickman in the Parker case, Keyes brought out the well-worn statement: "It was a victory for justice."

Judge to Fix Penalty.

Judge Trabucco then set Saturday morning, February 11, for date of sentence, and Attorney Walsh said he would enter a formal motion for a retrial at that time.

Hickman was rushed out of court and to his cell. Deputy Sheriff Claude Peters, who escorted Hickman to and from all sessions, said "The Fox" was scared to death.

But in an interview in his cell later Hickman said that "I got just what I deserved."

"I don't blame the jury or anyone else," he asserted. "I don't even blame the prosecutor. I think District Attorney Asa Keyes is an 'all-right fellow'."

"One thing I'm glad about is that I don't have to pose as 'The Fox' any more. Now I can be a man."

The four women and eight men of the panel, stern-faced and in the strain of 15 days of court sessions, retired at 2:20 p. m. with the instructions of Judge Trabucco.

Courtroom observers predicted an early verdict and Spring street Los Angeles gambler Mecca, was offering odds of 5 to 3 that Hickman would be adjudged sane.

Judge Trabucco spent only 20 minutes in reading his charge to the jury. He briefly reviewed the counts against the defendant, the plea entered, the issue to be decided and the California statutes as they bore on the case.

Judge Explains Charges.

"The defendant," he said, "is charged with kidnapping and murder under indictments returned by the grand jury. To each count he has entered the plea of not guilty by reason of insanity."

"The sole issue of the case is the mental condition of the defendant at the time he kidnapped and murdered Marion Parker."

"You will return a verdict which will state the defendant either sane or insane, remembering the burden of proof is on the defendant and that he must show his case by a preponderance of the evidence."

"The standard of accountability under the California statute hinges on whether the defendant knew the difference between right and wrong at the time he committed the offenses charged, whether he knew he was violating the rights of another."

"To each count charged against the defendant you must return a separate verdict. The verdicts must be unanimous."

Warns Against Prejudice.

"Under no consideration must you endeavor the rights of this defendant or the state of California by permitting prejudice, bias, sympathy, pity or public opinion to influence you in the decision."

SPLIT IN CONGRESS ON SHIPS 'WIDENS'

Washington, February 9.—(AP)—The breach between the two houses of congress over methods of strengthening and maintaining the American merchant marine widened perceptibly today with the introduction in the house of a bill designed to promote private operation of the merchant fleet in contrast with the Jones bill passed by the senate, contemplating continued government control.

The house measure, sponsored by Chairman White, of the merchant marine committee, which considers shipping legislation, proceeds upon the assumption, the chairman said, that the American people prefer private operation and are "willing to pay reasonable amounts" to bring it about, and that the government must offset "existing original cost and operating differentials" against the American ship in foreign trade.

White's measure proposed the liberalization of the construction loan funds and would empower the shipping board to contract for private maintenance of lines handling American agricultural and industrial products at a price equal to present operating losses.

$10,000,000 Will Be Spent To Develop Chattahoochee

West Point, Ga., February 9.—(Special.)—Approximately $10,000,000 will be spent for new power developments and flood control projects on the Chattahoochee river above this city. A. T. Roberts, publicity director of the Columbus Electric and Power company, told a joint meeting of the local chamber of commerce and the federation of women's clubs here Thursday night.

After more than five years of survey by the engineering division of the power company, the speaker declared, the first step of the large expansion program has been decided upon. Numerous acquisitions of property along the river north of West Point has resulted from these surveys, Mr. Roberts declared.

This was the first public announcement that the Columbus company has been actively engaged in a program for flood control and was the first reference to the purpose of the organization in buying a considerable amount of property rights along the Chattahoochee during the last few years.

Beginning of the developments decided upon by the power organization, the speaker declared, had been only tentatively set at this time, but he intimated that the program contemplates the building of new dams north of West Point.

Coolidge Invited To Convention Of D. A. V. Here

Washington, February 9.—(AP)—President Coolidge today was invited to attend the national convention of the Disabled American Veterans next June in Denver.

Commander William E. Tate, of Atlanta, who extended the invitation, also urged upon the president early completion of the permanent hospital construction program of the government, pointing out the steady increase in the number of mentally and physically disabled veterans in need of institutional care.

Enactment of the Luce bill for hospital buildings, now before the house, would afford much relief, Tate said.

Commander William E. Tate of the Disabled American Veterans left Atlanta Wednesday for Washington to extend his invitation to President Coolidge.

HOUSE VOTES FUND TO REPAV MIAMI FOR PORT PROJECT

Washington, February 9.—(United News.)—The house adopted an amendment to the war department appropriations bill today for repayment of $1,105,000 to Miami, Fla., advanced by the city to complete the Miami harbor project.

The bill carried $800,000 for this purpose with the remaining $305,000 payable next year, but under the amendment, offered by Representative Sears, democrat, Florida, the entire amount will be carried in the present bill.

CONFIDENCE VOTED POINCARÉ CABINET

Paris, February 9.—(AP)—The chamber of deputies gave the Poincaré cabinet a vote of confidence today at the end of the long debate on M. Poincaré's financial program. It was considered also a vote of gratitude. The final vote is on the order of the day, which was adopted 370 to 131.

Throughout the debate which lasted more than two weeks, the speakers from every group, excepting the communists, recognized that Premier Poincaré had saved the franc from complete collapse and had prevented France from falling into a financial and economic abyss. The socialists and extreme radicals demanded immediate stabilization of the franc at the present rate.

Premier Answers Critics.

The premier declared that the stabilization of the franc was not possible at this time. He refused to say when or at what rate it would be stabilized, subordinating the final operation to realization of all prerequisite conditions.

The radicals, who are combating the union government, in an electoral campaign, endeavored to rally their group against the government, but their hostile order of the day was rejected by 273 to 212.

The chamber voted confidence in the government.

When Ellis appeared, Elliott fired one shot, killing Ellis. "Starting to run," Elliott met Donald McNeilly, white, another employee, whom he shot and wounded.

As Elliott dashed from the packing company gates he ran into Charles Miller, 63, a supplier of a cleaning company. "Run!" shouted the negro, brandishing his pistol. Miller started to run, then apparently became confused and turned toward the killer.

Elliott fired and Miller dropped dead. The crazed negro then rushed to a south side rooming house, where a wounded policeman after a police chase had charged into a negro rooming house on the south side, to be met by a fusillade from Elliott or his negro companions.

Elliot, a former employee of the Omaha Packing company, was discharged after a quarrel with James Ellis, another negro, and today he waited for Ellis at the gate of the plant.

WITNESS RECALLS SLAYING ON BOAT

Miami, Fla., February 9.—(AP)—Members of a party aboard a pleasure craft on which a man was alleged to have been killed by a pursuing coast guard boat, did not recognize the government vessel and believed the charge to have been a ruse, the first witness to testify against three coast guardsmen charged with murder related in United States district court here today.

H. P. Parry, Joseph Kaslow and M. E. Lowrey, the coast guardsmen, were indicted for murder in state courts in connection with the slaying of W. H. Jones of Tahiti Beach on the night of March 14, 1927, but the trial was transferred to federal courts. The chief witness today was John Brewer, member of Jones' party, who said he saw nothing about the vessel approaching through the darkness to indicate that it was a government craft.

Boat Without Lights.

Several persons standing on the dock, who acted as witnesses, as several miles from the scene of the shooting, said they heard shots and saw flashes of gunfire. The boat on which Jones was a passenger showed no lights.

The state contends that the boat on which Jones was a passenger was returning from a pleasure cruise and that the shooting started without warning. The defense contended that the boat was a pleasure cruise and that the shooting started without warning.

BANKERS MEETING IN CHATANOOGA FOR CONFERENCE

Chatanooga, Tenn., February 9.—(AP)—Bankers from all sections of the country are in attendance upon the midwinter conference of the executive council of the American Banking Institute here, business sessions having been held this morning and this afternoon. At noon the delegates were guests at a luncheon tendered by T. R. Preston, president of the American Bankers' association. The day's activities ended with a banquet at a local hotel tonight. Final session will be held tomorrow morning.

Reports submitted show splendid progress in the institute's work the past year. President P. R. Williams said tonight.

Many Flares Displayed.

The club flag, which has flown over the building since it was erected, was bestowed upon the flag.

The hall was decorated with the flags of the Pan-American countries, on the table in front of the aviator were the flags of Cuba and the United States worked in flowers.

After the festivities at Camp Columbia, the flying colonel accompanied Ambassador J. Lindbergh to the American embassy. A reception there at 4 o'clock was attended by thousands of Americans and residents of Havana.

Colonel Lindbergh greeted all who formed the unending line at the reception with a smile, but only rarely did he break his rule to shake hands. Women outnumbered men by at least four to one.

Women Ask for Kisses.

"Oh, if I could only kiss you," pleaded one white-haired woman. Another admirer exclaimed, "I don't blame you for not shaking hands, but I'd give you my right hand for a kiss."

Many of the transient American population of Havana, who mingled with the Cubans at the reception, urged the aviator to continue his flights to their home towns.

The Cuban secretary of state, Martiñez Ortiz, was the first official to call. Many other prominent figures appeared from time to time, but the doors of the embassy remained open to persons of whatever degree who wished to pay homage to the aviator.

Colonel Lindbergh declined to attend the annual grand ball tonight at the Havana yacht club. Dinner at the embassy was followed by a conference with his legal adviser, Colonel Henry Breckinridge, after which he intended to retire early.

FRENCHMEN TO FLY ACROSS AMERICA.

Washington, February 9.—(United News.)—The French aviators, Costes and Leblond, revealed today that they plan to make a transatlantic good-will air tour from New York to San Francisco and probably an around-the-world flight which would bring them back to New York next summer.

Visits to Detroit, Chicago, Omaha and Salt Lake City are contemplated by the aviators. At San Francisco they may put their plans on a boat for Japan, where they would resume their flight across Asia and Europe to Paris.

From there they would attempt a trans-Atlantic flight next summer. Plans for the around-the-world trip, however, are dependent on approval of the French government, the fliers said.

The aviators were received by President Coolidge at the white house today, and attended a ball at the French embassy tonight. After a white house luncheon tomorrow, the fliers expect to hop off for New York in their plane, the Nipponese-Costes.

JOHN D., JR., CALLED IN SENATE OIL QUIZ

Washington, February 9.—(AP)—The senate inquiry into the operation of the ephemerical Continental Trading Company of Canada will be reopened Saturday with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., recognized head of the Standard Oil interests, as the chief witness.

Rockefeller accepted a telegraphic subpoena today from the Teapot Dome committee, but at the same time advised Senator Walsh, of Montana, the prosecutor of the investigation, that he still was "without information which has not already been submitted to the committee."

Committee Issues Subpoena.
The subpoena for Rockefeller was issued after the committee had made public correspondence between him and Senator Walsh with respect to the appearance of Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, before the investigating body.

The chairman of the board of trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation is to be questioned as to whether Stewart gave to him information which he withheld from the committee—what knowledge, if any, he had or persons who received Liberty bonds from the Continental and whether he had discussed the disposition of those bonds with Harry F. Sinclair, central figure in the whole oil inquiry.

In his telegram to Senator Walsh, Rockefeller said he had personally expressed his regret to Stewart that the latter had not answered all the questions put to him and had been informed that nothing could change the decision of the Standard of Indiana official, against whom the senate has asked the District of Columbia supreme court to start contempt proceedings.

Informing Senator Walsh that Stewart had stated that the stockholders of his company could have his resignation whenever they desired it, Rockefeller said "this is a question which the stockholders should, of course, and will naturally, consider as the matter develops."

CLARK IS CALLED IN CONTEMPT CASE

Washington, February 9.—(AP)—Sheldon Clark, wealthy oil operator of Chicago, was eliminated today from the list of six persons charged with criminal contempt of court because of the Fall-Sinclair oil jury surveillance.

In sustaining a motion to dismiss the charges against Clark, Justice Suddow ruled that his connection with the case was "casual and accidental." The Chicagoan, he said, had come here to testify in the oil trial as a character witness for Harry F. Sinclair and in this capacity of a friend twice was asked to hand reports made by Burns detectives of the shadowing activities to Henry Mason Day, who hired the agents.

"I could not convict you of contempt of court," said Justice Suddow, "and send you to prison or impose a fine upon you because I have not been convinced beyond a reasonable doubt of your guilt."

The elimination of Clark leaves Sinclair, William J. Burns, W. Sherman

20 Pretty Young Women Are Working Hard in Ticket-Selling Contest To Provide Funds for Baby Clinic Sponsored by Atlanta Lions Club

Here are 19 of the 20 young women who are busily engaged in selling tickets to the coronation ball to be held at the city auditorium on March 3, at which time the young woman who has sold the largest number will be crowned queen by Governor L. G. Hardman. Left to right they are: Top row, Mildred Womack, Rogers Stores, Inc.; Martha McCrory, Georgia Power company; Sue Entriken, Westinghouse Electric company; Bernice Bangart, Atlanta Paper company; Bessie O'Quinn, Atlanta and West Point railroad; Frances Baber, Standard Oil company. Middle row: Louise Coker, Western Union; Olive Thompson, Texas Oil company; Dorothy Gore, J. M. High's; Sophia Johnston, Atlanta, Birmingham and Coast railroad; Hattie Ruth Cannon, Federal Reserve bank; Lillian Wade, Film Board of Trade; Gertrude Syfan, Seaboard Air Line railway. Bottom row: Gladys Curtis, Montag Brothers, Inc.; Lillian Everitt, city of Atlanta; Marylee Harrison, Southeastern Underwriters; Frances Grant, Western Electric company; Mattie Dillard, Exposition Cotton mills; Martha Lyle, Fox Manufacturing company.

An endless procession of mothers maintained a steady request for registration of their babies in the Atlanta Lions club's clinic, at the registration offices, 10 Peachtree street, Thursday. The clinic will examine and determine the defects, if any, in 1,000 Atlanta infants.

Registration will not begin until 9 o'clock next Monday and so mother after mother had to be turned down.

Burns, C. L. Veitch and Henry Mason Day facing the criminal contempt charges.

by Manager J. J. Russell and his assistants. So numerous were the requests, however, that Mr. Russell confidently predicted that the limit of 1,000 babies would be reached, as far as registrations are concerned, within two days after the opening.

In the meantime 19 young women, the twentieth being ill, maintained the ticket-selling pace. Due to the fact that no standings are being published, it was not known whether Miss Lillian Everitt, representing the city of Atlanta, still kept the slight lead she grabbed Wednesday morning.

The 20 young women, each representing an Atlanta business firm, are vying for first honors in a popularity contest by selling tickets to the coronation ball. The winner will get a Willys-Knight sedan.

The baby clinic will open Monday, February 27, in the Medical Arts building. Examinations will be made by 75 Atlanta physicians, who will chart the perfection and defects of the babies and the charts will be given to the mothers, who can then intelligently do whatever remedial work is necessary.

The most perfect baby will be so acclaimed, and the six most perfect cake, 2,000 French pastries, 2,000 servings of ice cream, and 100 pounds of cheese will be on hand. All of this will be donated by various Atlanta firms.

The parade will assemble at Baker and Peachtree streets at 1:45 o'clock, with Henderson Hallman in charge. In the first division will be Governor Hardman and his staff, former governors, Mayor Ragsdale, officials of the chamber of commerce, county commissioners, the Old Guard and Confederate veterans.

Next will come the Tech band, Governor's horse guard, American legion, Spanish-American veterans, Tech military unit, Emory military unit, Georgia Military academy, Georgia Military college, Marist, Gordon institute, Boy's High, Tech High, Griffin High school and Locust Grove institute.

The route will be Peachtree to Forsyth to Hunter to Whitehall to Auburn to the city auditorium.

While Heron told Sheriff Abe Laird that he threw the body in the river, Laird was inclined to doubt his story. He ordered a search in the vicinity of a gravel pit where parts of Miss May's clothing were found.

A rise of two feet in the river impeded dragging operations and the current was swift enough to have carried the body far beyond the bridge.

IN DEFUNCT BODY

Raleigh, N. C., February 9.—(AP)—The defunct Tri-State Tobacco Growers' association, with a membership of farmers of Virginia and the Carolinas, will probably have sufficient surplus after paying all debts to distribute sums among members, in the opinion of M. L. Corer, Richmond, Va., receiver of the association.

visited the jury, opening wide his mouth.

The defendant, in relating his life history to the court, said he was an orphan at 14, a bronco buster and cow-puncher at 21 and a Texas ranger for seven years, attached to a post at Galveston, Texas.

"I came to Atlanta with a wild west show," he said, "and later found work as an electrician here. I made a home for Vena Black because she was poor and defenseless. Then Fowler came to our place one night and threatened me with a black-jack and knife. I hit him with my fist and then summoned an ambulance."

crans, officials of the chamber of commerce and county commissioners.

Dr. F. C. Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will deliver the invocation. Mayor Ragsdale, of Atlanta, and Mayor Scott Candler, of Decatur, will make addresses of welcome. Governor Hardman will formally accept the replica, presented to the state of Georgia by Guizot Borglum, and Judge Alex Stephens will express the appreciation of the Stephens family.

The following will be called on for five-minute speeches: Attorney General George M. Napier, John M. Graham, Mrs. Rebecca Felton, Judge Richard B. Russell, William H. Fleming, State Senators John I. Kelley and Seaborn Wright, William Schley Howard and former Governor Nat E. Harris.

To Place Wreaths.

Two wreaths will be placed, one for the citizenry of Georgia by Stephens Avery, and one for the citizenry of Crawfordville, Stephens' home.

The luncheon will be served by Junior League members in fancy dress, directed by Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore. Delegations from Washington seminary, North Avenue Presbyterian school and the Woodbury school will assist.

Five thousand sandwiches, with sufficient complement of barbecued meat, ham and pickles will be prepared for the luncheon. In addition, 100 pounds of candy, 100 pounds of coffee with cream and sugar, 100 pounds of pound will be awarded loving cups, which Thursday were donated to the campaign by the Pedigree Dairy Products company.

During the week between registration and examination of the babies, the office force of Mr. Russell will mail out appointments for the mothers so that no congestion will ensue at the Medical Arts building when examinations begin.

DRAG RIVER TO FIND
SLAIN GIRL'S BODY

New Philadelphia, Ohio, February 9.—(AP)—Struggling against the high water of the Tuscarawas river, county authorities tonight reinforced their efforts to recover the body of 22-year-old Viola May, in the hope of establishing proof of her death before filing murder charges against her brother-in-law, William Heron, 41, who confessed that he killed the girl last night after assaulting her.

While Heron told Sheriff Abe Laird that he threw the body in the river, Laird was inclined to doubt his story. He ordered a search in the vicinity of a gravel pit where parts of Miss May's clothing were found.

A rise of two feet in the river impeded dragging operations and the current was swift enough to have carried the body far beyond the bridge.

Piles Disappear

NO CUTTING OR SALVES NEEDED.
External treatments seldom banish Piles. Nor does cutting remove the cause. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby. The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—and a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Jacob's drug stores, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—(adv.)

"KANGAROO COURT" PROCEEDINGS COST $25 FINE OF $25

"Kangaroo court," held by a group of Inman Park boys in the vicinity of Little Five Points, wound up in police court Thursday afternoon when Carl M. Clements, 16, of 1015 Greenwood, was fined $25 and costs by Recorder Holloway on charges of disorderly conduct. Clements was unruly and resisted Officers Eddleman and Hendrix when they appeared at the "court" and attempted to put a stop to the proceedings, it was testified.

Clements claimed that Officer Eddleman struck him a number of times, but Officer Eddleman told Judge Holloway that he merely hit Clements with his open hand when the youth resisted arrest too vigorously. In passing sentence, Judge Holloway told Clements that "you've got too much bull in you."

GOVERNOR GRAVES COMMUTES DEATH DECREE OF NEGRO

Montgomery, Ala., February 9.—(AP)—Governor Bibb Graves today commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of death imposed on Hays Leonard, negro farm hand, for his part in the murder of Judge Lamar Smith, of Wetumpka, in August, 1926. Clyde Reese Bachelor, Judge Smith's son-in-law, was electrocuted last July after having confessed that he perpetrated the crime.

"The state of Alabama cannot kill an imbecile," Governor Graves said in making his decision. A lunacy commission appointed by the governor yesterday to examine the negro made a report to the governor that Leonard had the mind of an 8-year-old child, is an imbecile and is not responsible for his acts.

WORSHAM CITES INSPECTION RULES

Nursery and sweet potato inspection work is wholly under the control of the state department of entomology and no other state department or bureau has any authority to handle such inspection operations, according to a statement issued Thursday by E. Lee Worsham, state entomologist.

Mr. Worsham's statement is as follows:

"The Georgia state board of entomology under the state law has absolute control of this inspection work. All correspondence on this subject should be sent to the office of the Georgia state board of entomology, and when so directed will be given courteous and prompt attention.

"The laws of Georgia governing this work not only regulate the same within the state but conform to the regulatory laws of other states and thus confusion within and without of state is avoided.

"All nurserymen before offering stock for sale must have their stock inspected annually and secure a state license from the office of the state board of entomology. Specific information on this subject will be furnished on application to the office.

"To qualify as a grower of sweet potatoes for seed or slips for sale within or without the state one must have three inspections—one in the early fall, before the vines are trusted or otherwise injured; one while the potatoes are in the curing house or hills, and the last in the beds before the slips are drawn.

"All of these inspections are necessary for the discovery of different diseases discoverable only at the different seasons and conditions.

"If either of the first two inspections is not made certificate for sale cannot be granted unless the seed be purchased from certified growers with the certificate of such transfer furnished this office.

"A complete list of all licensed nurserymen and certified potato growers is kept in this office for reference on application. For more specific information write E. Lee Worsham, state entomologist, Atlanta, Ga."

Immediately afterward she will proceed to the department store and will take up her residence in the "apartment unique," according to Rich officials in charge of her program.

Motion pictures of the arrival will be made and will be shown all next week at Keith's Georgia theater, where Miss Kirby will make two personal appearances daily.

Saturday afternoon Miss Kirby will be hostess in the glass house to dancing pupils of Nellie Sullivan, and Saturday night she will be entertained by the Rich store quartet.

Until Saturday night, February 18, Miss Kirby will live in the Rich windows in plain view of the crowds that are coming to the city.

At 9 o'clock in the morning she will arise and go through a normal day's routine until 9 o'clock at night, when the curtains will be drawn and she will retire for the night. A round of novel entertainment has been arranged in connection with this interesting feature at Rich's.

A $53,000 guarantee on a $1.25 investment—That's the assurance you have when you subscribe to the $7,500 travel accident insurance policy offered through The Constitution.

Since the beginning of issuance of these famous policies at the ridiculously low price of $1.25 per year in addition to the regular rates of The Daily and Sunday Constitution, more than $53,000 has been paid on claims of policyholders who met death or were injured in accidents under the terms of the policy.

You know of the growing menace of the traffic accident wave which is sweeping city and town and country. Headlines almost daily tell of its terrible toll. You realize that you are in danger.

Then why not protect yourself and your loved ones with one of these famous policies issued by the North American Accident Company of Chicago, an old and reliable company?

The policy costs only $1.25 per year and provides for payment of sums ranging from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the speeding wheels of an on-rushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great offer. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70 at $1.25 per year.

REV. F. H. CLAPP ASSUMES DUTIES AS GAMMON HEAD

The Rev. Franklin Halstead Clapp, D. D., formerly endowment secretary of the Drew Theological seminary, is the new president of Gammon Theological seminary in Atlanta. Dr. Clapp accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Marie Welles Clapp, also a distinguished student, has arrived and has taken up active administration of the seminary.

Dr. Clapp received his A. B. degree from Wesleyan university in 1901. He received a B. D. from Drew Theological seminary in 1903 and in 1921 Alton college conferred on him the honorary degree of doctor of divinity.

He has made two extended tours of Europe and Asia Minor, the first in 1912 and the second ten years later. He was, for a time, resident student at Mansfield college, Oxford, England.

CHAMBER OFFICE WILL OPEN SOON

John W. Stokes, newly-appointed secretary in charge of the southeast division of the United States Chamber of Commerce, with offices to be established in Atlanta, next Monday will begin a tour of this division, following which he will open his office in the Chamber of Commerce building here, he said Thursday.

Tremendous growth in the business of the southeast caused the establishment of the office here, Mr. Stokes said. "National headquarters in Washington found the southeast becoming so important a factor in national business that a more localized center of administration was found advisable."

The states to be included in the region directly under the Atlanta office are Georgia, Florida, Alabama, South Carolina and North Carolina. The office in Atlanta is the seventh to be established in the United States in addition to the national headquarters maintained in Washington, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Dallas and San Francisco are the other or cities in which regional offices are maintained.

The United States Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Stokes explained, is the affiliation of all of the chambers of commerce in the United States. One of his purposes in the southeast will be in promotion of closer cooperation between these local chambers and the United States body. To this end increased affiliations will be sought among the chambers of commerce in Georgia and other states comprising the southeast district, which means that chambers not now members of the nation-wide organization will be asked to join.

Another of Mr. Stokes' duties will be to urge the present members to make more extensive use of the facilities maintained by the body he represents.

These facilities, he said, comprise, in brief, legislation and research departments created to aid business houses over the nation in every way possible. The legislative branch fosters and seeks laws and enactments in all of the 48 states and in Washington, which will be of help to business institutions.

The research branch is devoted to search for information about every branch of business with which these businesses will be enabled to broaden their scope, increase facilities of all kinds and in many other ways improve their organizations.

POLICE TO STOP BOYS SHOOTING CATS AND DOGS

Care-Free—Car-Free

TO be at ease while shopping these maddening modern days, one drops one's E's and spells care-free car-free.

In the immediate rear of the new Allen store there is an open-air garage. Across Cain street there are two—one under cover, one open—15 cents for six hours. Two blocks away, five minutes' walk down Ivy, is, perhaps, the finest garage South, the Candler. Courteous, uniformed attendants, parcel checking—one's packages may be delivered and assembled there. 25c for six hours.

One's car safely stored in a responsible garage, one can shop at Allen's in comfort with pleasure, sans anxiety regarding traffic cops, parking time limitations, and other nuisances.

One feels like exclaiming with Hamlet, "For this relief, much thanks!"

THE MIAMI FLURRY.

Miami has suffered from flood, reality inflation, panhandle gamblers, and many other things. She has never failed to rise again bigger and better and stronger than ever. That city has a permanent population, on the whole, of fine, stalwart, progressive, earnest, optimistic, strong-spirited people. Their ability to overcome obstacles has been proven. Their soundness in capitalizing the future has been demonstrated. Miami has a tourist population of some of the nation's wealthiest and most worthy people. They journey there from everywhere. Since the collapse of the unfortunate land boom, thrust upon the home people largely by invading sharks from other fields, the tourist personnel has been marvelously enhanced in tone and type. This to Miami's material, social and spiritual credit and benefit. But there are crooks in every live city—and in almost every community—men and women who assassinate, burglarize, despoil, tear down.

Especially are prominent tourist cities infested with these human boll weevils who bore into the hearts of budding fruit to wantonly cause decay and distress. There are an overwhelming number of good, law-abiding, dependable, constructive people in every community. But there are also in every community a number of crooks who will resort to any nefarious scheme to undermine and to create unrest and distress.

Three banks—one a major institution, the other two smaller—were closed in Miami and vicinity this week in one day, and terrific "runs" were made on other banks, which are among the strongest in the country. The latter, with sufficient funds on hand and in transit to meet every depositor's check without even a flush of embarrassment, weathered the temporary storm like giant ships of the sea braving the winds of a quickly dispelled "nor'easter."

The banks that were forced to temporarily close were entirely solvent. The comptroller of Florida declared this to be a fact. No stockholder or depositor will lose a penny. The clouds have now disappeared, and financial normalcy prevails.

What caused it all? The circulation of anonymous letters suggesting by innuendo—which is more destructive than a direct lie—the alleged "weakness" of one or more of the banks that were closed by the wholly unexpected and precipitous "runs" thus made upon them. There are some mean and wicked characters in almost every community. But the meanest character that one can conceive of, except the ambushed and cowardly assassin of human life, or of unimpeachable character, is that other coward who seeks under cover to tear down business, to create human skepticism and distrust, and to jeopardize a city's worthily attained integrity, and especially by the circulation of anonymous attacks upon safe and sound custodians of funds belonging to others.

Miami now needs to find her "meanest person" and to penalize him or her to the extent that such an unparadiseable crime demands.

Votive Offerings.

Votive offerings are still a popular way of expressing gratitude as the exhibition opened at Naples shows. The ancients and the early Christians made use of this custom, not only in sign of thanksgiving, but as a preventative measure. In cases of illness they would make haste to deposit a model of the injured limb or organ in the church in full faith of obtaining a cure. As time went on the church forbade this as savoring of magic, and only officially admits to the altar thank offerings for grace received. Yet to this day, in the neighborhood of Naples, mothers weigh their children and offer the same amount of wax to the virgin or their patron saint to keep the little ones from dwindling away. In southern Italy, plague, pestilence, and famine, battle, murder and sudden death, tempests, earthquakes and thunderbolts are all in popular belief, under control of some one special saint who has power to relieve sufferers from their evil influences. Thus St. Nicholas and St. Anthony protect the cattle; St. Paul cures snake bite; St. Kreolano strengthens the legs; St. Donny cures hydrophobia; St. Catherine, St. Raphael and St. Pasquale are fervently invoked when girls want husbands.

Clean Shaven Pastors.

That Methodist ministers in America have abandoned their former custom of wearing long beards in order that they might conform with the style of the great democratic masses, is suggested by the editor of the Methodist Year Book for 1928, just published. The editor has devoted a whole chapter to the subject of beards, and says that in "early times" that form of facial adornment was carefully cherished, and by some almost regarded as sacred. "The writer has before him (states the editor) a picture of an annual conference taken in 1878. There are 182 faces and of that number only seven have entirely smooth faces, 23 are fully bearded with a heavy growth, while 152 have a growth either on the cheeks, the chin or the upper lip. In a foreign conference photograph taken in 1878 there are 86; 15 are smooth and all the others appear with a partial growth of beard. The large majority of preachers today, aside from those with high church tendencies, have smooth faces and dress after the style of the great democratic masses."

Shaw Play In Paris.

The signal event of the Paris stage recently has been the play of Mr. George Bernard Shaw's "Heartbreak House." There are critics who share the dramatist's own opinion that he belongs in the great "Shakespearean" class. That is, they have been members of Shakespeare and I. Sheridan. To the others an opportunity has been provided to form or to revise an opinion of Shaw's play. The play, Bernard Shaw is less known in Paris than in most other capitals. With the exception of "Saint-John," French audiences have had comparatively little opportunity of seeing his play. In Berlin on the other hand, he is well known and well liked. That popularity is not quite unaccountable. For Mr. Shaw, the favorite dramatist of his audience in the face of German audiences are far more deeply imbued with the necessary polish for this kind of proceeding. The German playgoer will find the rise of the curtain in reverent expectation of a revelation. Delighted to hear that Paris was to have the play, he will follow his play to the playhouse and to the audience. It was told before the curtain at the beginning of the performance. It is a warning to the audience to go up and go home. At the first performance, at least, nobody did so.

DOUBLE RESPONSIBILITY.

On this page is a communication from Dr. H. R. Butler, Jr., that is particularly apropos at this hour, its publication following, as it does, the distressing traffic accident on Hightower street Wednesday afternoon the result of which little Edward Weaver, five years old, lost his life.

There is no possible excuse for the driver of a motor car that strikes a pedestrian, or is involved in a collision, or in any accident that results in human injury, to proceed without rendering all of the aid that is humanly possible. There is no excuse for reckless driving or for violation of traffic laws. Such "hit-and-run" drivers, and all violators, should be apprehended and punished. Safety cannot be promoted or advanced without the rigid cooperation of the enforcement officers and the trial courts.

On the other hand, Dr. Butler is entirely correct in placing responsibility also upon "reckless walkers" and in urging a ban against children playing in the streets. A number of children have been killed in Atlanta through no actual fault of the motor driver, but because of an approaching automobile, or emerging from behind a parked car, or some circumstance of the kind arising from the hazardous practice of playing—perhaps roller skating or chasing balls—in the paths of congested traffic.

The Constitution has time and again urged parents to keep their children from playing in the streets between sidewalk curbs. There is no paved street in Atlanta that is not congested at times with motor traffic. For a child to be playing, thus zigzagging between rapidly moving vehicles going in opposite directions, simply means an invitation for injuries to limbs and to an actual fatality.

The pedestrian responsibility is just as important as the driver responsibility. Safety demands cooperation between the two, and obedience to law on the part of both.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

Watching What Is Coming to the Top in the Boiling Political Pots.

One never can tell to a dot what the American congress is going to do with any given proposition, but the members of that body would do well by themselves to watch, while dealing with the merchant marine question, the holes whence the rabbits come out.

The overwhelming feeling of all wide-awake Americans is in favor of an American-owned and controlled merchant marine adequate to all our national needs of commerce and emergency defense. They are definitely opposed to our falling back into the condition we were in before the world war when 90 per cent of our ocean-going trade had to be carried by foreign ships. The memory of that condition is humiliating and the present tendency to rapidly revert to it is exasperating to common sense and national self-respect.

Government ownership and operation of commercial shipping appears to have been thus far expensive and ineffectual. The old feeling is avoided, if possible without a total surrender of our carrying trade again into foreign hands. But rather than have that calamity occur, the majority of Americans will declare for government ownership and operation, connecting the merchant marine with our naval defense system.

The other easier and cheaper way is to foster private ownership and operation through government aid and make the system fully adequate to American requirements. The old feeling is avoided, if possible without a total surrender of our carrying trade again into foreign hands. But rather than have that calamity occur, the majority of Americans will declare for government ownership and operation, connecting the merchant marine with our naval defense system.

Votive Offerings.

Votive offerings are still a popular way of expressing gratitude as the exhibition opened at Naples shows. The ancients and the early Christians made use of this custom, not only in sign of thanksgiving, but as a preventative measure. In cases of illness they would make haste to deposit a model of the injured limb or organ in the church in full faith of obtaining a cure. As time went on the church forbade this as savoring of magic, and only officially admits to the altar thank offerings for grace received. Yet to this day, in the neighborhood of Naples, mothers weigh their children and offer the same amount of wax to the virgin or their patron saint to keep the little ones from dwindling away. In southern Italy, plague, pestilence, and famine, battle, murder and sudden death, tempests, earthquakes and thunderbolts are all in popular belief, under control of some one special saint who has power to relieve sufferers from their evil influences. Thus St. Nicholas and St. Anthony protect the cattle; St. Paul cures snake bite; St. Kreolano strengthens the legs; St. Donny cures hydrophobia; St. Catherine, St. Raphael and St. Pasquale are fervently invoked when girls want husbands.

That Methodist ministers in America have abandoned their former custom of wearing long beards in order that they might conform with the style of the great democratic masses, is suggested by the editor of the Methodist Year Book for 1928, just published. The editor has devoted a whole chapter to the subject of beards, and says that in "early times" that form of facial adornment was carefully cherished, and by some almost regarded as sacred. "The writer has before him (states the editor) a picture of an annual conference taken in 1878. There are 182 faces and of that number only seven have entirely smooth faces, 23 are fully bearded with a heavy growth, while 152 have a growth either on the cheeks, the chin or the upper lip. In a foreign conference photograph taken in 1878 there are 86; 15 are smooth and all the others appear with a partial growth of beard. The large majority of preachers today, aside from those with high church tendencies, have smooth faces and dress after the style of the great democratic masses."

Shaw Play In Paris.

The signal event of the Paris stage recently has been the play of Mr. George Bernard Shaw's "Heartbreak House." There are critics who share the dramatist's own opinion that he belongs in the great "Shakespearean" class. That is, they have been members of Shakespeare and I. Sheridan. To the others an opportunity has been provided to form or to revise an opinion of Shaw's play. The play, Bernard Shaw is less known in Paris than in most other capitals. With the exception of "Saint-John," French audiences have had comparatively little opportunity of seeing his play. In Berlin on the other hand, he is well known and well liked. That popularity is not quite unaccountable. For Mr. Shaw, the favorite dramatist of his audience in the face of German audiences are far more deeply imbued with the necessary polish for this kind of proceeding. The German playgoer will find the rise of the curtain in reverent expectation of a revelation. Delighted to hear that Paris was to have the play, he will follow his play to the playhouse and to the audience. It was told before the curtain at the beginning of the performance. It is a warning to the audience to go up and go home. At the first performance, at least, nobody did so.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

Watching What Is Coming to the Top in the Boiling Political Pots.

One never can tell to a dot what the American congress is going to do with any given proposition, but the members of that body would do well by themselves to watch, while dealing with the merchant marine question, the holes whence the rabbits come out.

The overwhelming feeling of all wide-awake Americans is in favor of an American-owned and controlled merchant marine adequate to all our national needs of commerce and emergency defense. They are definitely opposed to our falling back into the condition we were in before the world war when 90 per cent of our ocean-going trade had to be carried by foreign ships. The memory of that condition is humiliating and the present tendency to rapidly revert to it is exasperating to common sense and national self-respect.

Government ownership and operation of commercial shipping appears to have been thus far expensive and ineffectual. The old feeling is avoided, if possible without a total surrender of our carrying trade again into foreign hands. But rather than have that calamity occur, the majority of Americans will declare for government ownership and operation, connecting the merchant marine with our naval defense system.

STATE PUBLICITY PLAN INDORSED

Commerce Ga., February 9.—(Special.)—Representative citizens of eight counties were guests of the Commerce Kiwanis club at a special meeting Wednesday night, at which the plan of the Georgia association for national and local advertising and publicity organization for 1932 was unanimously indorsed.

The meeting at Commerce was the second of a series of group meetings being held over the state under the auspices of the Georgia association, in cooperation with local civic organizations, for the purpose of providing a definite budget for national advertising in 1932 and for giving specific service to communities and counties in the preparation of effective local advertising and the preparation and listing of farms for sale.

A separate budget for land settlement work is being provided, including field work, in which the Georgia Magazine with a large circulation among prospective settlers in other states is made the basis.

Each county delegation at the meeting here Wednesday pledged the securing of the necessary subscriptions of the Georgia Magazine for their respective counties necessary to provide their pro rata share of the budget.

A plan suggested by J. H. Skelton, of Hartwell, met with the special approval of those present. Mr. Skelton declared that the magazine subscriptions for Hart county could be secured by each and every consolidated high school in the county, the libraries, to the most progressive young farmers in each militia district, as well as to the leading business men in the town.

C. J. Hood, president of the Kiwanis club, presided at the meeting and introduced C. L. Veatch, vocational instructor, who delivered an address of welcome to the visiting guests.

The following directors of the Georgia association were elected: Barrow county, W. A. Bradley, Windsor; Banks county, Howard H. Hill, Homer; Hart county, J. H. Skelton, Hartwell; Elbert county, Peter V. Rice, Elberton; Jackson county, C. J. Hood, Commerce; Hall county, J. D. McKibben, Gainesville; Franklin county, W. M. Williams, Lavonia. These directors, together with directors from other counties participating, will meet as soon as the budget is completed and discuss and approve specific plans for handling the same.

Carl Wiedemann, Noted Turfman, Enters Pen Here

Less than 24 hours after he pleaded guilty in federal court at Covington, Ky., to violating the prohibition act, Carl Wiedemann, former Newport, Ky., brewer and turfman, arrived here Thursday to begin serving a two-year sentence in the United States penitentiary.

Young Wiedemann, who was vice president of the George Wiedemann Brewery company, was the only one of the defendants to get a prison sentence. His father, Charles Wiedemann, president, was fined $10,000, and three employees who also entered pleas of guilty, were fined. The pleas admitted manufacturing alcohol for illicit purposes.

Carl Wiedemann gave to horse-racing one of the gamiest colts that ever trotted turf, in Memoriam, the sensation of the 1923 season. Out of comparative obscurity as a 2-year-old, in Memoriam jumped to fame by conquering Zev, Harry Sinclair's wonder horse, in the $50,000 Latonia championship stakes for 3-year-olds, November 3, 1923.

For more sensational, however, was the return duel staged between the two horses in a match race of a mile and a quarter at Churchill Downs two weeks later. Wiedemann's horse, the victor, termed the closest and most thrilling in the history of the American turf, could have been awarded either horse.

'Bama Glee Club
To Give Concert
At Agnes Scott

The University of Alabama Glee club, one of the oldest college musical organizations in the south, will arrive in Atlanta Saturday morning from Greenville, S. C., and will appear in concert Saturday night at Agnes Scott college.

At Greenville Friday night the Alabama club will enter a glee contest with other clubs of the Southern Intercollegiate association. Last year the University of Alabama won second place in this contest and those who have heard of this year's club pronounce it much superior than last year's organization.

The Saturday night concert will be presented by the musical department of Agnes Scott college. An elaborate program will be offered, which will include numbers by the whole club by a single and a double quartet and by the instrumental group.

One of the most attractive features of the program is the series of numbers, several of which are composed of pieces of stringed instruments and the ensemble orchestra, composed of strings and brass. Henry Goldman, of Berkeley, N. Y., is featured in a violin solo.

Many of the best of the rollicking college songs are offered by the club, which several special songs have been included on the program.

George L. Tarrant, of Atlanta, Thursday was elected district vice president of the Mason Contractors' Association of the United States and Canada in the closing session of a four-day convention at the Henry Grady hotel.

R. M. Gillespie, of St. Louis, was re-elected president; Harry A. Fenton, of Indianapolis, general counsel, and T. W. Kirk, of St. Louis, secretary and treasurer.

Other district vice presidents named were Harry Heyman, of London, Canada; Harry Jennings, of Toronto, Canada; Fred Anderson, of Sarasota, Fla.; E. J. Ladd, of Evansville, Ind.; George Barry, of St. Louis; Walter Thomas, of Richmond; George Deault, of Cleveland; W. R. Sneed, of Nashville, and William Kierney, of Milwaukee.

FISH IN NEW FORM TIME, MONEY-SAVER

There are undoubtedly many women in Atlanta who think that adding fish to the menu means adding a lot of fuss and bother to the preparation of the meal. But no longer is that true.

Fish all ready to pop into the frying pan out of the fire is now obtainable at most fish and meat markets. And contrary to the usual thought that prepared foods cost more, fish fillets come to really less in the end than buying fish in the natural state and eliminating tails, heads, bones and scales.

America's largest producer of fish in this new form is the Ray State Fishing company. Its 40-footom brand can always be counted upon to have the true ocean flavor, for preparation work is done with the greatest possible speed and the fish is shipped by fast express, packed in ice but never frozen.

Women who have not already used fish prepared in this new way will find it as easy to cook as a tender steak and just as welcome to the family.

WOOD GIVEN LIFE IN WIFE SLAYING

Sentence of life imprisonment was imposed on Jack Wood for the murder of his wife, Ella, following his consent to a verdict of guilty, in Fulton superior court Thursday. Bailiffs say Wood denied the crime shortly after leaving the court room.

After being found at a downtown hotel January 1, her skull crushed by the blows of some heavy instrument, and died at Grady hospital a few days later without regaining consciousness.

Police say she was attacked while riding in an automobile near Roswell with her husband and a man described as F. A. Reed. The two men brought the injured woman to the city, explaining that she had been hurt when the car crashed into a ditch.

Suspicion pointed to Wood when officers found the man's machine gun, a .38-caliber, and the woman's shoe and a blood-stained hammer in the woods nearby.

Wood, said to have recently escaped from the county clink, is under indictment on two counts returned January 10 charging transportation of a stolen automobile from Chattanooga, and the theft of another from W. C. Douglas, in Atlanta, shortly after ward. Both of the alleged offenses took place a few days prior to the injury of Mrs. Wood.

Another version of the affair was related by Wood to his attorneys in which he declared he killed his wife because she had been too friendly with Reed.

COMPROMISE SEEN IN SCHOOL FIGHT

Strong probability that a compromise agreement permitting completion of the three junior high schools and establishment of two others in the fifth and eleventh wards will be offered at the meeting of the Atlanta board of education Tuesday noon following a conference of leaders of opposing factions in the board.

When the board met in special session Tuesday afternoon to award contracts for completing the Bass, Brown and O'Keefe junior high schools, seven members voted to slash $71,000 worth of alterations from the Bass and O'Keefe projects to permit establishment of the two new junior high schools. The meeting Thursday was for the purpose of working out an agreement between the two factions, and although no definite compromise was decided upon, those attending were optimistic and expressed hope that completion of the units would be voted at the meeting of the board Tuesday.

ATLANTA AUTHOR
URGES CLEMENCY
FOR NEGRO THIEF

"Please let him go, judge," he only got 15 cents in my apartment," pleaded Frances A. Newman, author of "The Hard-Boiled Virgin," in seeking clemency Thursday for a confessed burglar. Newman told Fulton superior court his name was Henry Ford.

Judge Virgil B. Moore was persuaded to look with compassion on the man, but insisted that the charges were brought against him, declined to let him off under three years.

A negro had forced entry to Miss Newman's apartment, at 94 Eleventh street, taking advantage of the tenant's absence to ransack the premises. The indictment sets forth.

After getting 17 cents from the author's room, next entered residences at 1040 Peachtree street and 1071 Columbia avenue, where he profited better, according to the true bills.

Miss Newman was accompanied in the court room by her brother, Attorney Henry A. Newman.

Commerce Chamber Holds 62nd Annual Meet Tonight

Five hundred or more members of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce will attend the sixty-second annual dinner-meeting of the chamber beginning at 6:30 o'clock tonight, it is indicated by responses to the invitations sent out last week. The dinner will be held on the second floor of the Chamber of Commerce building, and will be informal.

A feature of the program will be the presentation of certificates of distinguished achievement to three citizens who rendered outstanding service to the city in the past year, and chosen for the awards were J. Carroll Payne, president of the Atlanta Art association, whose certificate will be presented by Eugene R. Black; Mrs. Nora Earnest Northern, the presentation to be made by Former Governor John M. Slaton, and W. B. Hartfield, whose certificate will be presented by Robert F. Maddox.

AVONDALE REVIVAL TO BEGIN SUNDAY;
TABERNACLE BUILT

A construction crew of 75 men under the direction of J. W. Venable, general contractor, has completed erection of a tabernacle for the Stephens-Lee meetings in Avondale Estates. The large structure, seating more than a thousand people, will be ready for occupancy Sunday.

Following selection Thursday of June 6 as the date for the city democratic primary, T. C. Morris, former member of city council from the fifth ward, announced his candidacy in opposition to Councilman James Bowen.

Mr. Bowen has indicated he will be a candidate for reelection. Members of the city democratic executive committee voted 28 to 8 to accept June 6 as a compromise date, after motions had been made to set the date on May 2 and September 10.

Rumors of several other aspirants for city positions to be filled in the primary were current following action of the committee.

A mayor, chief of construction, comptroller, building inspector, tax receiver, 12 councilmen and five aldermen will be selected in the primary.

J. P. Wall, chairman of the committee, Thursday night named the subcommittee to work out details of the election and set entrance fees as follows:

J. L. Peacock, first ward; Mrs. Howard McCutchen, second; Bruce Brantley, third; Dr. Samuel G. Smith, fourth; F. W. Sharp, fifth; Holmes Joyner, sixth; W. C. Jenkins, seventh; E. M. Rosier, eighth; Fred Gibbs, ninth; Thomas C. Smith, tenth; E. E. Kilgore, eleventh; L. Glenn Dewberry, twelfth, and J. H. Bush, city at large.

Rumors Thursday night were that J. Bush would oppose Steve Glass for the office of city marshal, a position vacated by Walter Harwell to oppose Edwin F. Johnson for Fulton county tax receiver.

BINNS CAMPAIGN SLOGAN BASED ON ENFORCEMENT

"Make your vote count for law enforcement" has been adopted as the campaign slogan in the race for reelection of Mr. Binns, solicitor general of the criminal court of Atlanta, it was announced by the Binns campaign committee, of which Attorney Lowry Arnold is chairman.

Mr. Binns' record speaks for itself and invites the close scrutiny of all thoughtful voters. His unquestioned integrity, his high moral standing in the community and the efficiency with which his office has been conducted unquestionably qualify him for another term.

"After becoming thoroughly familiar with the duties of his office as the assistant of Roy Dorsey, the former solicitor, he was appointed as Mr. Dorsey's successor by Governor Hardman when Mr. Dorsey resigned last September. He has not yet had a complete term and his record eminently qualifies him to be returned to the office."

FEAR 2 PRISONERS KIDNAPED GUARDS

Lafayette, Ind., February 9.—(United News.)—Belief that two handcuffed prisoners gained an advantage over two armed deputy sheriffs and kidnaped them while they were riding in an automobile was held today by officers directing a search for the four men, missing more than two days.

Although fifteen posses have searched every rod of the 70-mile route from Lafayette to Pendleton reformatory, where the prisoners were to be confined, no trace of the men or their automobile has been found. John P. Grove and Wallace McClure, deputy sheriffs, left here with Samuel Baxter and John Burns, convicted hold-up men, at 6 a. m. Tuesday. They should have reached Pendleton no more than three hours later.

The road which they traveled runs through well-populated farm territory and traffic is moderately heavy. Police were further mystified because the prisoners are not habitual criminals. They were described as "a couple of kids" who had tried to hold up a restaurant, but had been caught. They were sentenced to five years.

When Grove and McClure left the Lafayette jail, the two prisoners were handcuffed to each other in the back seat. The deputies, both well armed, sat in the front seat. Both were elderly men and inexperienced in transferring prisoners.

FOR EIGHTH TIME

Clyde Boling and Robert Turner were arrested Wednesday in Milton county on charges of transporting 75 gallons of whisky in an automobile, according to a report to Howard P. Wright, deputy administrator for north Georgia, from Prohibition Agents J. B. Wallace, W. M. Weaver and F. C. Crow. The agents said that this is the eighth time Boling has been charged with a prohibition violation.

While the Southern Shorthand and Business University has endeavored, for many years in the past, to supply business firms with its quota of competent office help, it has recently, and at great expense, raised the STANDARDS OF PROFICIENCY, so that its graduates now are enabled to meet the most exacting requirements of the Business World.

There is, therefore, no need for any young person who is anxious to attend a truly meritorious business school, an institution which has prestige in its community and ranks with the best business schools throughout the entire country, to hesitate in the selection of such a school.

The Southern Shorthand and Business University wishes to impress upon the mind of the public the important fact that its quarters, its equipment, its courses of study, its textbooks, its systems and methods, its teaching staff, and its financial and moral standing in this community have all been examined and passed upon by the Investigating Committee of the "National Association of Accredited Schools of America," which institution has honored the Southern by designating it as a "fully accredited school," and elected it to membership of the Association.

From the literature of the National Association, the following is quoted: "Schools accredited by this Association stand for those things that afford the student the largest possible opportunities for successful work, and the graduate such

Lafayette, Ind., February 9.—(United News.)—Belief that two handcuffed prisoners gained an advantage over two armed deputy sheriffs and kidnaped them while they were riding in an automobile was held today by officers directing a search for the four men, missing more than two days.

Although fifteen posses have searched every rod of the 70-mile route from Lafayette to Pendleton reformatory, where the prisoners were to be confined, no trace of the men or their automobile has been found. John P. Grove and Wallace McClure, deputy sheriffs, left here with Samuel Baxter and John Burns, convicted hold-up men, at 6 a. m. Tuesday. They should have reached Pendleton no more than three hours later.

The road which they traveled runs through well-populated farm territory and traffic is moderately heavy. Police were further mystified because the prisoners are not habitual criminals. They were described as "a couple of kids" who had tried to hold up a restaurant, but had been caught. They were sentenced to five years.

When Grove and McClure left the Lafayette jail, the two prisoners were handcuffed to each other in the back seat. The deputies, both well armed, sat in the front seat. Both were elderly men and inexperienced in transferring prisoners.

BOLING IS FACING
LIQUOR CHARGES
FOR EIGHTH TIME

Clyde Boling and Robert Turner were arrested Wednesday in Milton county on charges of transporting 75 gallons of whisky in an automobile, according to a report to Howard P. Wright, deputy administrator for north Georgia, from Prohibition Agents J. B. Wallace, W. M. Weaver and F. C. Crow. The agents said that this is the eighth time Boling has been charged with a prohibition violation.

While the Southern Shorthand and Business University has endeavored, for many years in the past, to supply business firms with its quota of competent office help, it has recently, and at great expense, raised the STANDARDS OF PROFICIENCY, so that its graduates now are enabled to meet the most exacting requirements of the Business World.

There is, therefore, no need for any young person who is anxious to attend a truly meritorious business school, an institution which has prestige in its community and ranks with the best business schools throughout the entire country, to hesitate in the selection of such a school.

The Southern Shorthand and Business University wishes to impress upon the mind of the public the important fact that its quarters, its equipment, its courses of study, its textbooks, its systems and methods, its teaching staff, and its financial and moral standing in this community have all been examined and passed upon by the Investigating Committee of the "National Association of Accredited Schools of America," which institution has honored the Southern by designating it as a "fully accredited school," and elected it to membership of the Association.

From the literature of the National Association, the following is quoted: "Schools accredited by this Association stand for those things that afford the student the largest possible opportunities for successful work, and the graduate such

Beauty, Youth, Talent Slated To Make Local Frolics Greatest Atlanta Show

College boys who have desires for making a hand and shoulder, the Tiedman and his "Tuesdays," this week at Keith's Georgia. This organization of eight players, singers and comedians, presents something different from the usual band on the stage. Their comedy bits are especially good while the dances stand out above others seen locally. The "Tuesdays" also appear in the comedy afterpiece, "In the Air," which closes the stage part of the program.

Loew's Grand.
Lieutenant Gitz-Rice, noted Canadian actor and comedian, is the headline attraction on the vaudeville bill at Loew's Grand theatre and with his five northwestern "Mounties" he has brought a musical act here that is in a class by itself. As an extra feature "Marie," charming and petite Canadian comedienne, appears in several pretty dance numbers. The Loew's feature picture is "Man, Woman and Sin," with John Gilbert in the leading role.

Howard.
Charlie Chaplin in "The Circus," his latest comic and conceiver, is the headline attraction on the vaudeville bill at his admirers all this week at the Howard. Many critics say that "The Circus" is the greatest picture that has been shown in Atlanta. It is a comedy of the highest order, and judging by the crowds which have packed the Howard the theatre patrons must agree with the critics. Ray Teal's Public stage show, "Jazz a la Carte," also appears in the comedy afterpiece, "In the Air," which closes the stage part of the program.

Metropolitan.
"Women's Wares," featuring Evelyn Brent, late star with Emil Jennings' "Last Command," Bert Lyell and Larry Kent is the principal attraction this week at the Metropolitan and tells in a vivid and graphic way the vicissitudes of a modern woman's life. During her sojourn through the complicating peripeties she found love and a chance at wealth, but found love which more than made up for the loss of the other two. There is a wealth of good wholesome comedy and many situations that would be embarrassing to some girls, but they are all flying clouds.

Alamo No. 2.
About 200 of the sheiks and sheikhs that adorn the taxi dance hall in the Alamo No. 2, on Friday were hired at a dance hall of that type in Los Angeles in order to secure the realism demanded by the director, Joan Crawford and Owen Moore have the romantic leads.

Rialto.
"Grandma's Boy" has since its production been regarded as the best comedy ever achieved by Harold Lloyd, but the fact that it is showing all this week at the Rialto theatre.

Here is the large and remarkably well-trained group of Atlanta boys and girls, who are in the final stages of rehearsal under direction of Victor Hyde, of the Constitution-Loew's Grand Frolics to be presented all next week at Loew's Grand theatre.

BY ELMO HAMBY.
Atlanta is to see one of its greatest shows next week! And this is not the advance halloo of some worn and tired professional show, but the resume of the expressed opinion of two-score authorities, newspapermen and citizens who witnessed almost a complete presentation Thursday night at the Ansley hotel of The Constitution-Loew's Grand Frolics, which will be presented by a cast entirely of local talent all next week at the Loew theatre.

Beauty, youth and inherent talent are combined in the 50 principals of the show which is being polished to perfection, a stage it has almost reached, under the directorial genius of Victor Hyde, noted Broadway producer. In three short days he has whipped the girls and boys out of the wilderness of inexperience into the limelight of regular "troupers."

This is not going to be an amateur show. Mr. Hyde told his pupils Thursday night: "forget that word amateur. This is a real, honest-to-goodness big-time show and before the first curtain Monday, every single bit of the production is going to be polished to the height of perfection."

And with that brief interlude, he cracked the whip again, and the rehearsal swung under way. Number after number was repeated, and bit after bit selected as better than any of the feature length comedies now available confirms that fact.

The fact that Manager W. T. Murray, of the Rialto, booked it to be shown all week also is considered prima facie evidence that he knows thousands of Atlanta movie patrons wanted to see it.

Tudor.
The story of a man fearless and strong, whose horsemanship and fighting ability amounted almost to a legend, is told in Tom Mix's "The Canyon of Light," which the Tudor is offering today and tomorrow. Mix furnishes new and different thrills, and does so with the aid of his horse, Tony.

West End.
"The Heart of Maryland," which shows at the West End for the last time tonight, is a drama of the civil war, in which Dolores Costello, the role of a southern girl who loses her heart to a soldier of the north. The Joe Brown Glue club will be on the stage as an added attraction tonight and Saturday.

Palace.
A picture as impressive as the uncharted snows of the north will close at the Palace tonight. It is "Back to God's Country," a picture of the same name. Renee Adoree is the star. "Fast and Furious," a Reginald Denny comedy thriller, will be shown Saturday.

The complete show was rehearsed Thursday night, and at the finish, Mr. Hyde for the first time departed from his usual plug-work-plug-work-harder! drive to gather the cast together and in a pretty tired sounding voice congratulate them and tell them that they were on the threshold of perfection.

And at 11:15 Thursday night, it was a tired but happy group of girls who bundled themselves up and departed from the Ansley hotel for home and well-earned rest after more than three solid hours of plugging and working at top pace under the magnificent direction of Mr. Hyde.

Now, here's a confidential note from the writer to those members of the cast who may be reading. Mr. Hyde Thursday night was right at the top pitch of enthusiasm over some remarkable discoveries he had made among you.

And from the short time you have had the privilege of working under the invaluable direction of such a genius, you should know that when Mr. Hyde makes "discoveries," it rings the bell and stays put!

The Frolics may mean Broadway to some of you! And in the meantime, Atlanta next week will see one of its greatest shows!

Cast for Atlanta Movie Will Be Chosen Tonight
Tonight's the big night for all who are interested in the all-Atlanta moving picture to be filmed next week and shown on the screen of the Howard theatre the week of March 5.

A scenario having been selected through a contest conducted by The Constitution, and a great shipment of filming equipment and a delegation of producers on hand, all is in readiness for actual beginning of work except for selection of a cast.

This will be chosen at the big casting party at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the stage entrance of the Howard, and everyone who desires to get a line on his or her adaptability for the films should be on hand promptly in order to apply for a position in the cast.

Those who have not yet received their entrance tickets to the party may do so merely by presenting a properly filled out blank appearing in the amusement section in this issue. It is not necessary to mail this coupon; its presentation will win admission.

Bill Quinn, business manager of Berkova Productions, Inc., of Hollywood, has an added attraction tonight and Saturday.

wood, which will film the picture, has been here several days preparing for the work. He has with him an able corps of directors, cameramen, costumers and carpenters, and what is said to be the largest shipment of movie equipment that ever took the road from Hollywood. This includes a big truck which generates power, studio lights and two million candle-power lamps that will throw light 20 to 25 miles.

"We have equipment to make this picture a big success," Mr. Quinn said, "but it all depends upon the cast. The films in other cities have been splendid and we have had heavy application lists from which to choose. I hope Atlanta will turn out on a big scale for positions on the cast."

"The picture will be a high-class film in every respect and will be absolutely free of what is commonly called 'hooky.' All who seek positions in the cast will find that it will be fun and instruction of the most wholesome type, and I predict that the public will receive the film most warmly."

OGLETHORPE LEAVES TODAY ON ROAD TRIP

Oglethorpe's Petrels shove off this morning on a road jaunt of two days' duration, taking them to Columbus for two games.

Tonight the Petrels will take on the strong Fort Benning team, which was humbled last week by the 22nd Infantry in games played at Fort McPherson. The Benningites still form a hard squad to beat, however, and the Petrels will be hard put to emerge victorious.

Saturday night the Oglethorpe squad takes on the Columbus "Y." Little is known of this quarter, but it has made a good record this season and the battle between the two teams should be an interesting one.

Nine men will make the trip with Coach Harry Robertson and Manager John Ickel. They are Bass, Masse, Feinberg, Bell, Clemon, Wilson, Gould and MacLaughlin. The ninth man has not been picked Thursday night.

In a game played in the Oglethorpe gym Thursday night the Petrel fresh downed the Southern railway team by a 21 to 28 count. It was a close game with the score seeing-saw all the way. The freshmen led by our point at the half and at the end of the third quarter the Railroaders were ahead, 24-25.

Cobb Democrats Are Unanimous For W. F. George
Marietta, Ga., February 9.—(Special)—The movement to nominate Senator George, of Georgia, as the 1928 democratic standard-bearer, and the proposal to have the state democratic executive committee select delegates to the Houston convention were unanimously endorsed Thursday by the Cobb county democratic committee.

Wholeheartedly endorsing the movement to nominate Senator Walter F. George for president at the national democratic convention, the resolution read, and added that "it is the sense of this body, and we so recommend, that the state democratic executive committee, when it meets in Atlanta, Ga., on Saturday, February 11, 1928, select delegates to this national convention."

The resolution further asked that the state committee select such delegates as are not only loyal to the cause of Senator George, but who will never cast a vote of this state for a wet candidate, should Senator George be eliminated.

Diamond Drolleries

They tell a good one concerning Fred Johnson, now in the Southern league, who was tried out at one time as a pitching prospect by the Giants.

It seems in one game the Giants were either 18 runs ahead or 18 behind when Johnson was given a chance to finish a game.

McGraw also sent in a new catcher. Johnson conferred with the new backstop regarding his knowledge of the batters. Both agreed that they didn't know one from the other and would have to "go it blind."

Cy Williams, veteran Philly lugger, was the first man to face Johnson.

The youngster hooked one over the corner for a strike—and got away with it. His confidence rising, he decided to take a chance on a fast ball next. It went right over the heart of the plate. The infielders threw their arms in front of their faces and ducked subconsciously.

Then one of the infielders found his voice.

Do you ever do that again. You paralyzed him that time, because he had been waiting five years for one of those and was too surprised to swing.

Johnson won two games for the Giants without drawing credit for a defeat—and then was sent to Toledo.

Canzoneri, Bass Meet TODAY IN N. Y.
New York, February 9.—(AP)—After a year of bickering, with little ring action to relieve the monotony, the featherweight division, on the stamping ground of many great fighters, appeared today to be headed out of fistic obscurity.

Tony Canzoneri, bounding New York Italian who once sharpened his punching sights on the levee kids of New Orleans, and Benny Bass, bode slinger from Philadelphia, are scheduled to start the movement tomorrow night in a 15-round match for the 124-pound championship in Madison Square Garden.

Both the featherweights, old and young, are preparing to join the parade.

On the Canzoneri, picked as the outstanding featherweight by the New York boxing commission, is the threat today as the boys completed training with both well under the class weight limit. Bass, title nominee of the National Boxing association, was the underdog at odds of 8 to 5 and 9 to 5. Both expect to scale around 125 pounds at the weighing-in ceremonies at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

In the supporting eight-round bout, Al Winkler, Philadelphia southpaw, will meet Bobby Burns, of New York, and Benny Schwartz, of Baltimore, tackles Johnny Greer, of Harlem.

THE CONSTITUTION'S

$4,000.00

TRIPLER ELEPHANT GAME

YOUR CHANCE TO WIN $1,500.00

THE PROBLEM

The sum total of the figures on each of the three elephants pictured herewith are to be given as a solution. You can find the sum total of each elephant by adding up the figures of each. The figures 1, 2, and 3 in the circles in the upper left hand corners of the elephants are simply to identify them. These figures have nothing to do with the elephants' weights.

In submitting your solution you must identify the three elephants by their numbers, that is, the figure "9" is the highest figure shown. There are no "23's," "55's" or "97's," or like groups. If you find a "2" and a "3" are written so closely together that it looks like "23," it means that "2" and "3" are to be added—just as you would if they were an inch apart.

There are no "4's" or "6's" in the elephants. There are no groups of figures, that is, the figure "9" is the highest figure shown. There are no "23's," "55's" or "97's," or like groups. If you find a "2" and a "3" are written so closely together that it looks like "23," it means that "2" and "3" are to be added—just as you would if they were an inch apart.

There are no figures in the picture except in the bodies of the elephants. The tops of the "6's" are distinctly curved, and the bottom of the "9's" are straight or nearly so. There is no trick or illusion in the charts.

GENERAL RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. This contest is open only to residents of Georgia and adjoining states. Both old and new subscribers may enter. No employee or member of an employee's family of The Atlanta Constitution will be allowed to participate in the contest, nor any of the prize winners that have won prizes in excess of $100.00 in any of the elephant contests heretofore conducted by The Atlanta Constitution.

2. Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they may desire, provided a payment of one of the amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution, but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one prize. Once registered a solution cannot be changed. NO SOLUTION UNACCOMPANIED BY A SUBSCRIPTION PAYMENT WILL BE REGISTERED.

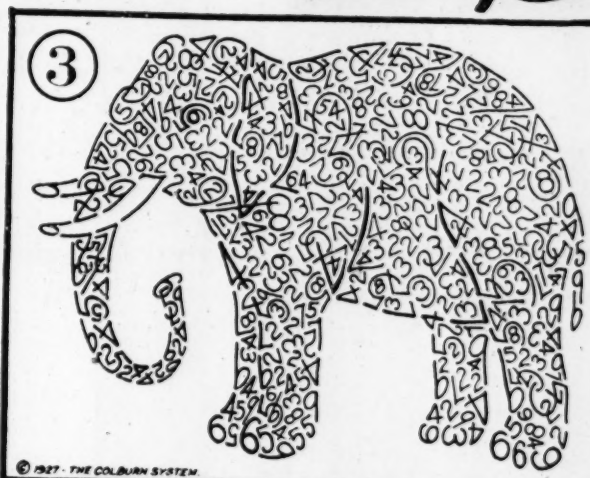

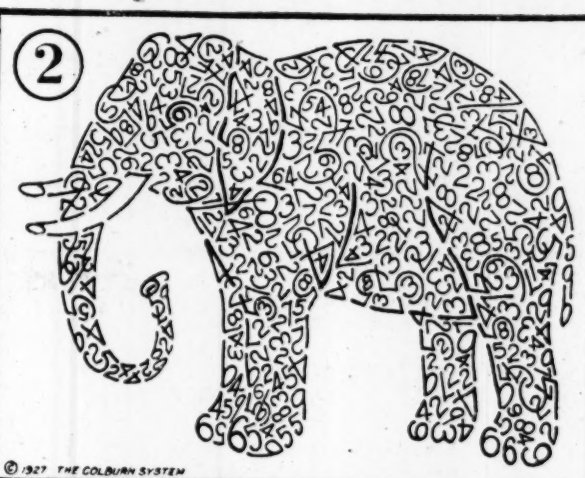

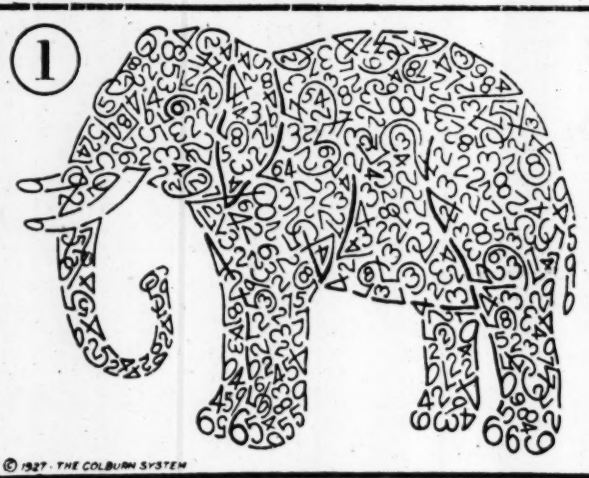

3. The Atlanta Constitution offers these prizes for individual effort. While it is proper for members of one household or several friends to work together, it is not permissible for more than one of those working in unison to send a solution of the puzzle. When, in the judgment of the contest manager or The Atlanta Constitution, more than one member of the same family or more than one of any number of persons he believes have worked together, send in a solution of the puzzle, the right is reserved to refund the amount of money paid for subscription and return the solution if it is believed has been submitted contrary to the rules.

4. The Atlanta Constitution reserves the right at any time to reject any solution which it believes has not been submitted under the proper conditions. In other words, any group of persons working together and submitting more than one solution, all of which are submitted by the group, will be barred. The Atlanta Constitution also reserves the right to finally decide any other questions or points which may arise in this contest, and participants by sending in their answers agree to accept the decisions of the contest manager of The Atlanta Constitution as conclusive and final.

5. In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution; that is, if two or more people should tie in the best solution, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them, and they will be awarded in order of the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. That is, the best solution will be awarded the first prize, the next best second, and the third best, third prize, etc.

6. All solutions with remittances must be delivered to the office of The Atlanta Constitution by 6:00 p. m., Thursday, March 29, 1928, or mailed at any post office in Georgia or adjoining states, bearing postmark of no later date than March 29.

7. The subscription rate of the daily and Sunday Constitution is $5.00 for six months, $9.50 for twelve months. All subscriptions in this contest must be paid in advance. Nothing less than six months' subscription will be accepted, and not more than twelve months' subscription is required. A subscription can be sent to one person and the solution credited to another, but the complete address of both must be given in each instance. This contest begins Thursday, February 9, and ends Thursday, March 29, 1928.

Patience and Perseverance are the only requisites in winning one of the 30 big awards.

How to Win $1,500.00

To enter this contest it is necessary to send but one paid-in-advance subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution for six months with $5.00, but you can increase the amount of the prize money that you will receive if you are a winner. For instance, with a $5.00 remittance and six months' subscription, should you win first prize the amount paid would be $500.00, but if the winner of first prize has qualified with a remittance of $9.50 for twelve months' subscription, the prize will be $1,500.00 instead of $500.00.

$500.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one six months' subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution with $5.00 remittance is sent, new or renewal, $250.00 for second prize, $125.00 for third prize, etc.

$1,500.00 instead of $500.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one yearly subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution is sent with $9.50, either new or renewal; second prize, $1,000.00; third prize, $500.00, etc. See last column in prize list. issued to annual subscribers and immediate members of a subscriber's family of ages from 15 to 70 at $1.25 per policy each per year. This fee is in addition to the subscription price. Applicants should give name in full, state age and occupation, and when a beneficiary is given be sure to state full Christian name and relationship to the insured.

Here Is The Great Prize List

Note: The value of the prize depends on how much you pay on your subscription with your solution in the tripler elephant game. The amount paid will be applied to the daily and Sunday Constitution: Daily only or tri-weekly subscriptions not accepted in this contest, and no solution will be registered unless accompanied by at least $5.00 for six months' subscription. The least amount is $5.00 for six months' subscription, or the largest amount required is $9.50 for twelve months' subscription.

Both the solution and subscription must be sent in at the same time in same envelope.

	Prize if 6 mos. sub. new or renewal with $5.00 is sent.	Prize if 12 mos. sub. new or renewal with $9.50 is sent.
First Prize	$500.00	$1,500.00
Second Prize	250.00	1,000.00
Third Prize	125.00	500.00
Fourth Prize	75.00	250.00
Fifth Prize	40.00	100.00
Sixth Prize	20.00	50.00
Seventh to Thirtieth Prizes	5.00	25.00
Total	$1,130.00	$4,000.00

Important Facts To Remember

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners submit in subscription money. This is explained in the awards list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution. The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning an award. Accuracy is what counts. Not more than one award will be awarded to any one person.

CANDIDATES HOLD THREE MEETINGS

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

Big Berths of half a score of candidates for positions to be filled March 7 in Fulton county primary were framed on voters Thursday night in three widely-separated sections of the county.

Chief interest continued to be focused on the race for Fulton county tax collector, a post sought by Walter Harwell, for the past eight years city marshal, and Edwin F. Johnson, at present a member of Fulton county commission.

Meetings were held at the Highland Avenue school in the ninth ward under auspices of the Ninth Ward Civic association; the Meador-Goldsmith school in the fifth ward under the auspices of the Northwest Atlanta Civic league, and at Lakewood Heights, held by friends of Mr. Johnson.

A feature of the night was a clash between Mr. Johnson and Tull C. Waters, a member of the Harwell ticket, at the Lakewood Heights scene. Mr. Waters and Mr. Johnson participated in a heated debate over the respective qualifications of the leaders of the two tickets for the position at a meeting held Tuesday night in the fifth ward, and the battle was continued Thursday night after a two-day truce.

Invade Johnson Meeting.

Invading the Johnson meeting Mr. Waters renewed his charges that Mr. Johnson "occupies a self-appointed post as dictator of Fulton county politics," in that he has failed to resign his office as commissioner and "make the race as a private citizen."

Mr. Johnson countered with the assertion that Mr. Waters is charged because the commission has tentatively elected Walter C. Hendrix, senator from the 33rd Georgia district, to succeed Johnson on the commission, instead of naming Waters, and also because he failed to recommend establishment of the post of assistant county attorney at a salary of $250 a month, a post to which he claimed Waters aspired.

Presiding an overwhelming victory in his race for reelection against his opponent, John McClelland, Carlton W. Binn, solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta, took the floor in the ninth ward rally.

"People of Fulton county believe in giving a man an opportunity to make good," Mr. Binn declared. "They know that our office has prosecuted the work of the court without partiality and with an earnest desire to make this county a better place in which to live."

Mr. McClelland declared that he lost the race in the last election to Roy Dorsey by only 169 votes, and expressed disappointment that Governor Hardman failed to appoint him to the position when Mr. Dorsey resigned instead of naming Mr. Binn.

His ticket follows: Leonard Crawford, Arthur B. Knowles, Arthur J. Elliott, Walter C. Caraway, L. C. Forbes and Mrs. Matt W. Layton.

Jerre A. Wells, superintendent of Fulton county schools, spoke in behalf of Mr. Johnson's candidacy, and Mr. Harwell was represented by L. Quimby.

Commission Candidates.

Ed Imman, Dr. A. H. Cochran, Walter B. Stewart, at present chairman of Fulton county commission, and E. W. Fountain, representing Sam D. Hewlett, all candidates for the two positions on the Fulton commission, spoke in behalf of their respective candidacies.

Mrs. George Brown represented Mrs. Haulah Doneho Manston in her candidacy for Fulton county treasurer, and Mrs. J. R. Wakefield also spoke. Mrs. Mabel Abbott MacNeill, daughter of William H. Abbott, was represented.

Sheriff James I. Lowry and A. M. Corrie, Mr. Lowry's opponent for reelection, also were represented by speakers.

Arthur Brooke, president of the Southeastern Fair association for the past three years, delivered a short speech pointing out the importance of opening up North Georgia so as to form a continuous thoroughfare from Clifton road to Kennesaw avenue.

Crawford Elected.

Leonard Crawford, prominent attorney, was elected president of the Ninth Ward Civic association for the coming year succeeding William Rankin. Austin Dilbeck was named secretary.

J. D. Thomas, assistant solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta, represented the Binn ticket at the meeting at the Meador-Goldsmith school, while Arthur Knowles represented the McClelland ticket.

Leonard Crawford spoke for Sheriff Lowry and E. K. Phillips made the bid of A. M. Corrie, his opponent, for votes.

E. M. McGhee represented Mr. Harwell and Mr. Johnson was not represented at this meeting.

Mrs. J. R. Wakefield delivered a short speech in behalf of her own candidacy for county treasurer and was the only one seeking that position to appear. James F. Siders spoke for Mrs. Manston, who is seeking the same position.

Mr. Stewart was represented by J. W. Hammond, and Sam Hewlett by Lindsay W. Camp.

Dr. Dobyns' Address.

Pastors, elders and deacons of all Atlanta Presbyterian churches have been invited to hear the last of a series of addresses which will be given this evening by Dr. William Ray Dobyns, of Birmingham, before members of the men-of-the-church class of the Central Presbyterian church. O'Grady was placed on probation after his mother-in-law requested the judge to be lenient with him because "he had learned his lesson." O'Grady said he hurled the brick because the mother-in-law refused to let him see his wife who was staying with her mother.

Many Activities 'Are Planned At High Museum

Just inside the main entrance at the High museum there hangs one of the most beautiful canvases in the Atlanta Art association's collection. Its title, "Salute to the Virgin," is carried out most ingeniously in a composition of rich loveliness. The pasting peasant doffs his cap to the beautiful stranger who sits there with her child, her heart wreathed in a halo. Soft is the coloring, excellent the drawing, reminiscent of Jules Breton and Jean Francois Millet.

An advance art school where students may take up the serious phases of art, fitting themselves for commercial positions, is under way: the museum, Miss Cornelia Cunningham is in charge of this school, where drawing, designing and commercial illustrations are a few of the subjects to choose from.

Three new exhibitions, the paintings of Maurice Braun and Arthur W. Emerson, together with the etchings of Elizabeth O'Neil Verner, will open at the High museum Friday, February 17, at 4 o'clock. Maurice Braun's landscapes are beautifully composed, filled with the rich coloring of California. Emerson finds inspiration in the far-away islands of the Polynesians. Elizabeth O'Neil Verner breathes the charm of the old south in her masterful etchings of Charleston and Savannah.

Every Sunday at 3 o'clock a popular lecture on art is presented to the general public at the High museum. Sunday Mr. McKimney's discussion will be "The Art of the Romans." His talk will be profusely illustrated with slides.

Many study clubs are taking advantage of Mr. McKimney's offer to present a series of art appreciation lectures before their respective organizations at the High museum. These lectures, free of charge, will take up the study of art in all its branches. The Peachtree Women's club was the first to enroll, choosing the second and fourth Wednesday morning of each month for its membership. Other clubs who are interested in having art talks presented to their groups are invited to call Mr. McKimney at the High museum for appointment.

JUGGERNAUT

By Alice Campbell

Esther, a young nurse, having accompanied an invalid from the United States to France on the Riviera, is about to return to New York when she sees an advertisement in the paper for a nurse and doctor's assistant, and she decides to apply for the job in order to spend a little time in France.

While waiting for an answer to her application to Dr. Sartorius, Esther treats herself to tea at the fashionable Restaurant des Ambassadeurs. She becomes interested in the conversation of a beautiful French woman and her escort, an Englishman, who sit at the next table. On returning to her hotel Esther finds a note from the doctor asking her to report in the morning.

The beautiful French woman of the restaurant comes to see Dr. Sartorius and Esther learns that she is Lady Clifford. A few days later Sir Charles Clifford is stricken with a fever.

INSTALLMENT XL. A CHANGE.

Esther was aware that something had happened when she arrived as usual in the morning, for Jacques, who met her in the hall, had a somewhat mysterious and wholly ironical manner.

"Ah, mademoiselle, what have I told you? Did I not say it would be so?"

"Say what? What do you mean?"

"Did I not say he was what you call fed up?"

"Jacques, what are you talking about?"

"Go in there, you will soon know. He is waiting to speak to you."

Considerably puzzled she tapped on the consulting-room door and was made to come in. As she did so the doctor looked up from what seemed an unusual confusion on his desk, and as his gaze encountered hers she thought that the dull heaviness of his demeanor was oddly lightened by a spark of something she could not define.

"Ah, Miss Rowe, you see me about to make a rather sudden change. The fact is I have been persuaded to put aside my practice for a short time—I can't say exactly how long it will be—and during the interval to act as private physician to Sir Charles Clifford."

Frankly taken by surprise, Esther could at first only exclaim, "No, really?" and wait for him to go on. Whatever had induced him to do this? She reflected that the Cliffords must have offered him a good deal of money.

"I have arranged with a colleague to take over my practice for the next few weeks," the doctor continued, busy sorting papers as he spoke, "although naturally my patients can please themselves about going to him. He is a competent man. Needless to say Sir Charles will make it worth my while, and for the rest I badly need a holiday. The change will do me good."

So this was why he looked more cheerful. Even a machine needs a rest once in a while. Then Esther thought of that other work of his, the research of which he seemed never to tire.

"What about your experiments?" she ventured.

"I shall be able to snatch a couple of hours now and then," he replied. "But of course I must resign myself to giving up really serious work in the laboratory until the case is finished. It is regrettable, for as you know, I am in the midst of that series of tests in regard to the antitoxin for tetanus. Every week I lose increases the chance of some other fellow's finding it; there are a number of experiments hot on the trail. However, it can't be helped. He sighed and added to himself, 'You can't have it both ways.'"

It now occurred to Esther to inquire how this alteration of plans affected her.

"Then I suppose, doctor, you won't be wanting me for the next month or so?"

ish nursing home in an hour's time; it is all the same to me. If you come, however, they will pay you at the rate usual in your country—more than an English nurse gets, as you know."

"I wasn't thinking of the money," declared Esther hastily and with truth, "I was only wondering . . . but it doesn't matter, I'll come. When do you want me?"

"At once. How soon can you be ready?"

"O, I can be ready in an hour or so. I've only to pack my things and settle my hotel bill."

"Very well, try and get to the house before lunch. I will telephone to say you are coming. Here is the address."

It was with a slight feeling of excitement that two hours later she strolled in a creaking taxi up the steep streets of Cannes, her hatbox and neat dressing bag reposing on the seat beside her, her small trunk in front.

Ah, here it was, the Villa Firenze—a spacious, even imposing mansion of pinkish brick, the front covered in wisteria. Acacias shut off the well-kept garden from the road and bordered the drive, a circular one, the approach terminating in wide, shallow stone steps flanked by carved stone baskets of fruit. While she was paying the taxi the door opened and a man servant, English, with sparse gray hair and a pleasant wooden face, came out and took her bag and hat box.

"I daresay you'll be wanting to go straight to your room, miss?" he suggested.

"Yes, thank you."

She found herself in a large, irregular entrance hall with a sweep of stairs facing her. On the left was a high Gothic chimney-piece of gray stone, the fireplace banked with azulejos, flame colored and rose. There were a few tall Stuart chairs and a carved oak cotter. The long windows were curtained with old needlework. She followed the butler up the carpeted stairs and from a broad upper hall along a passage towards the back of the house, meeting no one on the way but a housemaid.

The room into which she was shown had the charm of harmonious simplicity. The plain furniture was painted black, outlined in ivory, the curtains and covers were of Tulle de Jouy in one of those delightful reproductions of an eighteenth century pattern showing a dozen scenes of pastoral life, naive on a white ground. The carpet was black, and on the mantelpiece was a black Wedgwood bowl filled with anemones, placed between crystal candlesticks.

"Your box will be up directly, miss," the butler said as he left her. When her trunk arrived she set herself to work to unpack the belongings so recently stowed away. This done, she quickly changed into one of her pale buff uniforms with its accompanying apron, still cuffs, and coat—an uncompromising costume at the best of times, yet she had managed to have hers well cut and of a becoming color. She was the most that one could do.

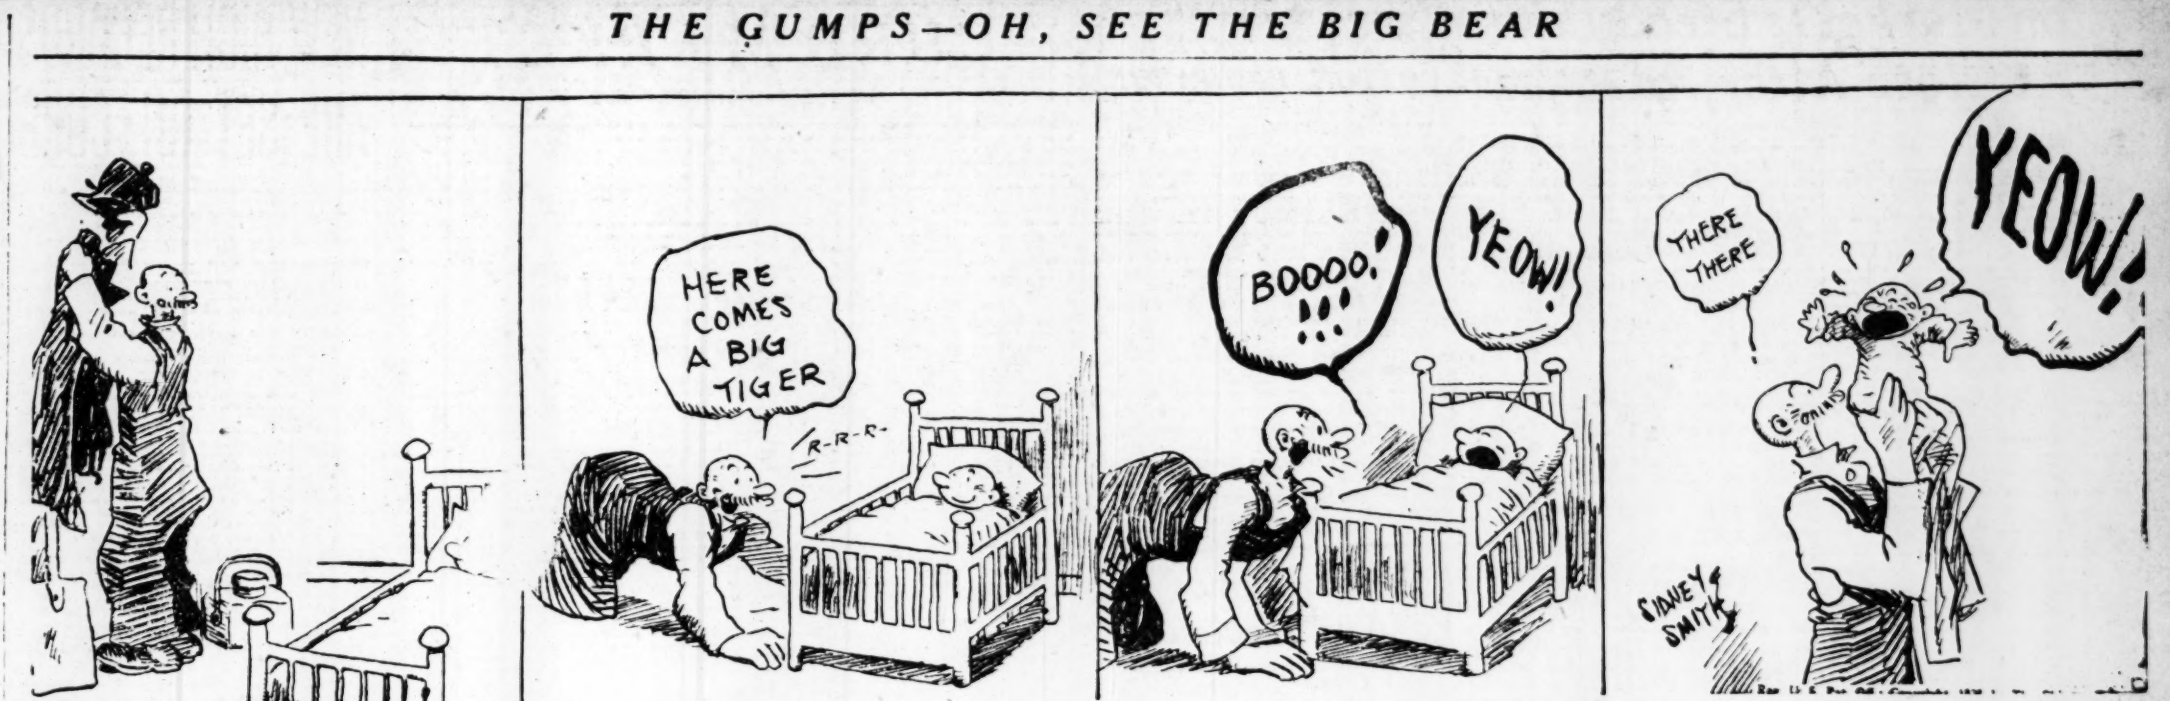

As she was putting the final touch to her attire there was a tap on the door and the maid she had seen on the passage entered. She was a wholesome looking Scotch girl with a strong Glasgow accent, and she smiled on Esther in a friendly way.

"If you please, nurse, Miss Clifford is waiting to see you when you've done dressing. She said there was no particular hurry."

"I'll come at once," said Esther promptly, and followed her out of the room, back to the central landing, and a few yards along another hallway to the right, where in an open doorway, Miss Clifford was standing. At once Esther noticed in her appearance a marked alteration, her strong, hard faded and she looked tired and distressed. However, she smiled in a welcoming fashion and extended her hand as to a friend.

"Ah, I'm glad you could come," Miss Rowe said, she exclaimed with an air of relief. "It was my first thought when Dr. Sartorius consented to come to us. I felt I should so like to have you look after my brother."

She drew Esther into her room, which was comfortable and bright in a solid, old-fashioned style. "So you see," she said, closing the door and motioning Esther towards a large easy chair by the fireplace, "my fears were well grounded after all. He has got typhoid—he had it then."

RADIO-ING

The Air Waves.

BY WILL SMITH.

Folks, the Dial Twister has just finished an evening at the radio receiver. Chain station programs, independent stations, good, clear stations, stations with more interference than a station should be called upon to shoulder. It's all in a night's recreation these days.

We have heard good programs, have refused to listen to programs which were poor, have been chased from wave lengths by bloopers, run off wave lengths by terrible heterodyne whistles. Below are some of our results. Also you will find what we expect to be particularly good programs tonight.

And after we have switched off the current, pulled back the covers and all ready to turn out the light, what are our reflections of what we have listened to the last three or four hours? Well, it is simply to reiterate ourselves to never letting up on the federal radio commission until the air is made free to the public.

"Hymn to the Sun" was among the most enjoyable numbers during the Hoover half hour, starting at 7:30 o'clock, but we also want to say, "Hello, World." We sure did like that doggone "By and By" from "Dearest Enemy," which was rendered by the homeboys. Couldn't you just see little Madeline McMahon and her big red-coated sweetheart as they appeared last summer during the light opera season?

Came then the Maxwell hour. Paraded for our inspection were numbers we felt we couldn't miss, as we glanced over the program of the hour's music. Well it was a bit of a disappointment. Lambert Murphy and the Maxwell orchestra, conducted by Shilker, outdoing themselves. Can you listen to Schumann's "Traumerei" without pausing to get all its beauty? Thursday night it was given as a "cello solo, and sweetly, beautifully played.

Lambert Murphy's first number was Schubert's "Serenade." His strong tenor voice came true through our loud speaker, bringing with it all the expression of the old master's serenade.

The Dial Twister then twirled the dials until WGY came in. You see, we predicted that the Clignet Eskimoes would be on Thursday night. As we always like to get at least a part of their hour, we decided to leave WSB and go to Schenectady. There, we found the Eskimoes were in their theater near the north pole.

Now, just listen to this! Mister Murphy is coming in with "When You and I Were Young, Maggie." On the Maxwell hour and dropping out the Clignet program. The blue NBC chain is interfering with the red chain. Well, it is all in the family, so our "fight" is out themselves, and we would go to WGS for the Clignet hour but WGN is being interfered with so badly we can't get anything but a terrible heterodyne whistle. WJZ can't be brought in, either. Well, good-bye Clignet hour, we are sorer than you, we guess.

And now here we are at KMOX. One of the Columbia chain, however, we are getting talk on Cuba, it seems. On and here's the Tia Juana race results. "Lemon Squash" paid $10.40 in the third. This good news or bad, as you prefer, is from Chicago, either WHT or WBO. On we go. Here's "Robin Hood," and it's coming from WHAS. On we go. (It's 9:04 o'clock.) Quartet selection on celestial bells. "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning," from WLS. Let's go. Now it's the Smith Brothers from WSAI and their number is "Mighty Like a Rose." But wait! (9:10.) And here are "Fraser" and "Mark" again. Well, it started at WJZ, ran up to WSAI and then continued until WERH came in. All stations are telling the world about the Smith Brothers.

Let's see what Mr. W. K. Henderson is not on, but he has a good substitute. The two stations are now operating on the same wave lengths, WJZ and WSAI, in Springfield and one in Boston, and are NOT INTERFERING with each other. He offers this to the radio commission as evidence that IT CAN BE DONE and challenges the commissioners to deny it.

But what's tonight to bring? The Rock-A-Bye Lady will come to you if you tune in WJZ or KDKA at 6:30 o'clock.

WSAI will give you the Cities Service Concert orchestra, with two violas playing "The Rosary," starting at 7 o'clock. And that is only one of a dozen or more excellent numbers.

Also at 7 o'clock KDKA will be transmitting Goffrey Lowndes, Australian violinist. Then at 7:30 o'clock KDKA will have the White Rock concert.

The Wrigley Review, at 8 o'clock, over WSB will be well worth an hour of your time.

Then, of course, the Anglo Persians will give their concert at 8 o'clock, and we suggest that WGN or WJZ, WGY or WWC be tried for this. What will they offer? Well, do you like "The Call of the Desert" or "In a Monastery Garden" or "Love's Last Word"?

The Victor hour will be heard over KDKA at 9 o'clock. This will be good. The above are all NBC chain programs.

And here's some Columbia programs. Don't forget them. We ALWAYS tune in for at least a part of them.

Bob and Mary in the True Story hour will again be heard at 8 o'clock. This young couple have given us some of our best entertainment recently.

The 20-minute men will try to break a record starting at 9 o'clock. This light dance orchestra will try to play a record number of popular numbers, correctly and full length, in 20
